WASHINGTON, Aug. 15 (AP)—John P. Frey, American Federation of Labor leader, bluntly suggested today to a House committee investigating unamerican activities that it direct some of its attention to federal government departments.

Revelations of Communist activities published in the Boston Evening American today brought the Dies congressional committee probe of un-American activities to Boston.

The special House committee, authorized by the 75th Congress with Congressman Martin Dies of Texas as chairman, opened local headquarters on the 15th floor of the Federal Building.

There today, behind closed doors, Edward F. Sullivan, ace congressional committee investigator, who has made startling charges in the probe, conferred with Captain Alvin Halpern of Brookline and Abraham Sobel and Maurice Goldsmith, both of Boston.

Both Halpern and Sobel were Spanish War enlistments out of

Hitler Watches Army Games

BERLIN, Aug. 15 (AP)—Adolf Hitler looked on today as reserve forces of rearmed Germany started extensive war maneuvers that are to blanket virtually every part of the nation.

The Reichsfuehrer's personal attendance was disclosed in a terse announcement which said he witnessed a military display at Juterbog, one of Germany's largest military training grounds 40 miles south of Berlin.

'Comfortably' Hot, They Say

Although the weather man predicted that the mercury would probably climb to the 90-mark today, "comfortably hot" weather was promised with the trouble-making humidity 16 per cent. below normal.

Less than 24 hours of the ideal vacation weather is in the offing, however, with showers predicted for tomorrow afternoon and night with an accompanying sharp descent of the thermometer.

BOY HERMIT'S MOTHER IN NEW SEARCH

CARVER, Aug. 15—Baffled in their attempts to capture elusive Alfred Dirkevorkian, 15-year-old woodland will-o-the wisp, town authorities today decided to send two trained police dogs into the woods to aid.

The dogs to be obtained through the state police, would be kept in leash on the hunt, however.

Use of the dogs was considered because since Thursday the young Boy Scout has eluded all searchers in the wild recesses of 12,000-acre Myles Standish State Forest and an adjoining 3000 acres of tangled woodland and brush.

PLANE TO HUNT AGAIN

Sighted several times in the woods he even broke a promise, shouted last night to an uncle who sighted him, that he would return home.

And today there came back no reply from the boy to pleas shouted in the woods by his mother and by his parish priest. The youngster had vanished again.

All searchers except 20 were

Swanson Nephew, Hal Kemp 'Ex' Wed

HOUSTON, Tex., Aug. 15 (AP)—Betsy Slaughter Kemp, daughter of Mrs. Willis Slaughter of Houston, and James T. Swanson, Jr., nephew of Secretary of the Navy Claude Swanson, were married last week, her mother announced today.

The marriage followed the former Dallas girl's divorce from Hal Kemp, orchestra leader.

Wrong but Polite

Her Scream Routs Intruder

A tap on the shoulder awakened Mrs. Florence Iacbacci, 50, of Eighth street, Cambridge, today and there was a man standing over her bed.

"Is it you?" he asked.

Mrs. Iacbacci screamed.

"I beg your pardon," he said. "I guess it isn't."

He tipped his hat, Mrs. Iacbacci told police, and went out the window.

Red N. E. Boring Told Dies Group

By WILLIAM S. NEAL

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15 (INS)—With Communism in Hollywood on the waiting list for a thorough public airing, the congressional committee investigating un-American activities was given documentary evodence today designed to connect John L. Lewis and the CIO with Stalinism.

The A. F. of L., through John P. Frey, one of its highest officials, presented a series of letters, pamphlets and books to the committee. Summed up, according to Frey, they proved a "betrayal" of American laboring men and women in the cause of Moscow.

IN RED QUIZ—As Dies congressional committee cast spotlight of un-American activities' probe on Boston, Captain Alvin Halpern, Spanish Civil War veteran, conferred with probers here today.

It wa sthe second broadside of charges fired by the A. F. of L. aagnist its CIO rival. Frey previously had named several hundred top-ranking officials and organizers for the CIO as actual Communists or sympathetic to the Communist philosophy.

As the A. F. of L. testimony continued, Chairman Dies (D.) of Texas revealed that charges by investigator Edward Sullivan that Communism is "rampant" in the Hollywood motion picture colony would be investigated.

HOLLYWOOD PROBE AHEAD

Although refusing to name the Hollywood stars reputedly espousing the Moscow cause, Dies said:

"This whole matter will be gone into with about 30 witnesses."

Frey, an even-voiced witness, read from the documents he presented to the committee. He first cited a letter written by Anthony Ucello, who resigned as president of Local 232, American Hardware Corporation, New Britain, Conn.

Ucello's letter, dated October 11, 1937, said:

"In the beginning it was my belief that I had joined a bona-fide American labor organization but I have since awakened to the fact that the CIO has on its payroll Soviet agents hired to betray American laboring men and women.

SEES RED PLAN

"The Communist party of New Britain brought the CIO here. I am convinced that it had some purpose in mind in doing so.

"For the first six weeks of the CIO organization drive for members, they expended money to start the movement until a member of the Communist party was put on the payroll as a full-fledged CIO.

"A week after I became president I was shocked to find that I was the recipient of the Communist 'Daily Worker.' I received this paper for a period of 25 days until I put an end to receiving it. This is further proof that the CIO is working hand in hand with the Communist party to betray the American people.

"At one of our meetings a few weeks ago the speaker for the evening was none other than the great Connecticut agitator and Communist, Dr. Emily Fearson of Cromwell. This is more proof that the Communists are trying to build a Soviet America.

COMMUNIST SCHOOL

"At a state meeting I attended recently I had the misfortune to meet a CIO organizer for office workers in New Haven, who tried to sell me the idea of holding a Communist school in my home."

Ucello said that he approved the endorsement by Governor Cross of Connecticut of the fight of the AF of Lagainst the CIO.

Bad blood between the Dies committee and the LaFollette Civil Liberties committee was threatened as a result of Frey's charge that Communists have aided LaFollette investigators.

Interrupting the hearings, Rep. Mason (R) of Illinois, said:

"Mr. Chairman, I see a couple of investigators for the LaFollette committee in the back row in the spectators' section. I suggest that they be invited to sit in the first row."

Dies, smiling murmured:

"They can sit on the front row if they wish."

Frey again referred to William Sentner, a Communist, as organizer of the recent Maytag Washing Machine Company strike in Newton, Ia.

After Sentner was withdrawn, he said, another Communist, James Lustig, replaced him as a strike leader.

Reading a list of 60 members of the central committee of the Communist party of America, Frey included the name of Wyndham Mortimer, vice-president of the Automobile Workers' Union, as a member. Mortimer was one of the union leaders recently ousted fro mthe auto workers' union by President Homer Martin.

"He frequently is referred to in meetings as 'Mr. Baker'," Frey said.

PLANS AGAINST UNIONS

In endeavoring to build a case showing that current developments merely carry out the Communist policy as outlined in a Senate investigation of 1924, Frey read extensively fro mstatements furnished that committee by the United Mine Workers Union.

Among the plans, he said, were seeking to destroy craft unions, prevent agreements between workers and manufacturers and work through separate organizations.

"What I have read to you is fully borne out in the radio workers union," said Frey.

"And are not these statements borne out in the activities in the CIO in 1937 and 1938?" asked Rep. Mason.

"Yes, very largely where the Communists have been able to get members on union committees," replied Frey.

Oust College Reds, Plea Of Dorgan

Colleges must clean house and sweep out Communism, the sooner the better, former Representative Thomas Dorgan warned today.

Replying to the attack on "professional patriots" made by President Daniel L. Marsh of Boston University, Dorgan pointed to Pope Pius, National Commander Daniel Doherty of the American Legion and the Rev. Michael J. Ahern, S. J., as "patriots" who have recently warned of Communism's dangers.

"They have warned time and time again of the dangers of Communism, and I don't call them 'professional patriots,'" stated the former representative.

"Let me remind President Marsh, as an ordinary layman, that it would be much better for him to attack the materialistic philosophies and false theories that have been given to our young boys and girls of our leading institutions.

"This warning was given by another—according to your version, President Marsh — 'professional patriot, Senator David I. Walsh, when he declared a few weeks ago that if some of our leading institutions did not stop advocating false doctrines and 'isms' their charters would be taken away."

Open Red Probe in Boston

Boston, and Halpern's own detailed story of Communist activities in connection with enlistments and the conduct of the war, was published exclusively in the Boston Evening American.

As a result he was a leading witness a few weeks ago in the Massachusetts probe of Communists and other subversive organizations, conducted by the special commission of which Senator Sybil Holmes of Brookline was chairman.

Some of the information gained at the Massachusetts hearings has been read into the record of the Dies committee probe.

WILL ROUT RADICALS

When Goldsmith emerged today from the meeting with Sullivan the former said:

"I merely presented evidence against Edward H. Hunter, secretary of the Industrial Defense Association, whose activities stamp him as a Communist.

"When the committee gets through with this investigation, there will be no Fascists, Nazis or Communist organizations left in this country.

"The Industrial Defense Association is a phony patriotic organization.

"I expect to go to Washington to testify before the congressional committee within a week or two."

Halpern, Sobel and Investigator Sullivan declined to say what went on at their closed session today and Sullivan would not say if members of the Dies committee will sit here soon in the probe.

CALLS ON PATRIOTS

The federal prober did say, however:

"The congressional committee should have the wholehearted support of every patriotic American, because every member of the congressional committe is genuinely interested in the welfare of the United States and is earnestly striving to warn the American people of the danger withir our gates.

"The chairman of the committee, the Hon. Martin Dies of Texas, has long been known as one of our outstanding exponents of true Americanism in Congress, as has the Congressman from Somerville, Arthur Healey.

"Due to the insufficient funds granted by Congress for this investigation, it is well nigh impossible to present the entire picture of terrorism, sabotage and even murder which lies in the wake of Communist activities in the United States.

PRAISES A. F. OF L. MEN

"Personally, I hope that when Congress reconvenes in January the committee will be able to present such a graphic outline of the situation in the United States that they will receive the fullest moral and financial support from their conferees, so that the investigation can continue, which is most vital to our domestic peace and happiness.

"Great credit is due the officials of the American Federation of Labor, such as John C. Frey, head of the metal trades department, for their courage in defending the American workingman against the insidious influences of the most destructive force the world has ever known —Communism.

Lynn Boy Back With Bride, 15; Defies His Dad

Braving his father's threats to have him committed to a reform school as a "stubborn child" if he does not give her up, 16-year-old Louis Haskell, Jr., returned to his 15-year-old bride, the former Virginia Jones, today.

LOUIS HASKELL, JR.

VIRGINIA JONES

Earlier in the day, Louis had been torn from his bride's arms by Lynn police, sent to her home by the boy bridegroom's angry father.

Louis and Virginia had barricaded themselves in her parents' home at 93 Glenwood street, Lynn. But Sergeant William Gillespie and Patrolman Andrew Tuft told young Haskell:

"Your dad is still your boss. "Being a husband doesn't change that. You'll have to go home with him, or we'll have to break in that door, drag you out and lock you up."

"I'LL BE BACK"

After a stormy two-family conference, during which the Jones pleaded for the newly-wedded couple, young Haskell decided to go home.

"I'll be back," he called hopefully to his bride as she sobbed.

To which the elder Haskell retorted:

"You're six feet tall, but you're still just a kid to me, and I can still give you a licking. I will.

FATHER'S THREAT

Back in the Haskell home in Massachusetts avenue, Lynn, young Louis faced his father, refused to agree to an annulment.

"You'll either obey me or I'll ask to have you committed to a reform school as a stubborn child!" his father shouted.

Young Lewis said:

"May I leave?"

"Yes," stormed the older man, "but you've got to decide—annulment or the reform school."

BRIDE IN TEARS

Young Lewis went back to his bride, who greeted him with tears of joy. A little later they went shopping together.

Two weeks ago Louis, Jr., and Virginia were invited to a picnic at Salem, N. H. They slipped away from the picnic and were married by a justice of the peace.

After the ceremony they returned to Lynn, spent the night in their respective homes, but the next day vanished.

But they had been planning their elopement for a long time.

"I'd saved $50," Louis, Jr., said today.

The eloping couple went to New Haven where they stayed at a hotel until their money was gone.

Court Holds 'Art Student' In Theft Try

Allegedly trapped as he paused to admire a carved wooden dog in the Milton home of a Boston attorney, John T. Smith, 25, of Vaughn street, Hyde Park, was held in $5000 today, in Quincy district court, on a charge of breaking and entering with intent to steal.

Smith was also held in $500 on a drunkenness charge.

According to police, Attorney Herbert Lyman found Smith in an upstairs room of the Lyman residence in Brush Hill road, Milton.

The suspect was allegedly standing by a table, admiring an Italian art curio, a dog carved from olive wood.

"I see you are interested in objects of art," Lyman said coolly. "Here's a tray of the same workmanship as that dog. Sit down and look them over. I'll go get you a drink."

The supposed burglar complied, continuing to examine the curios.

Downstairs, Lyman called police. They arrested the "art student."

Pleading guilty today to both charges against him, he was held for September term of Dedham court.

King, Queen Weigh Visit to U. S. in '39

LONDON, Aug. 15 (INS)—Possibility that King George and Queen Elizabeth of England may visit the United States and Canada next year was voiced by the London Evening Standard today.

The British sovereigns recently concluded a triumphant three-day visit to France.

Green Magazine Has Sally 'Scoops'

Sally Clark, society songstress and sister of Anne Clark Roosevelt, today revealed she is going to have two careers—marriage and the stage.

Thus with formal announcement of her engagement to George X. McLanahan of New York, the Green Magazine of the Boston Sunday Advertiser today scored two most newsworthy "beats."

For Sunday, while other papers were printing the denials of Sally and her mother, Mrs. F. Haven Clark, George Holland revealed exclusively in his column, Boston After Dark, that the oft-rumored match was a certainty, with the marriage to take place here the first week in January.

At the same time, the revelation that Miss Clark was determined to go forward with her singing career was made by Miss Ann Marsters, also in the Green Magazine, during an interview between the Boston society girl and the famous composer, Irving Berlin.

"PLEASE FORGIVE ME"

"You'll forgive me for not telling the truth about my being engaged," Sally told other newspaper reporters at her Nahant home.

"I just couldn't tell until now," she added in connection with the exclusive lead item in the Holland column of Sunday.

George Holland was the first Boston newspaperman to greet John and Anne, as they returned from their Bermuda honeymoon.

Holland broke the news to John and Anne that Sally Clark had announced her engagement.

HOLLAND LISTED BAND

In Holland's notebook, as he chatted with John Roosevelt, were details not even John knew about for Sally's wedding.

Those details included the name of the swing band engaged by Mrs. Clark, at Sally's request, for the wedding reception.

BACK BAY NUPTIALS

Miss Clark verified the second Green Magazine "beat" written by Miss Marsters, feature writer, in today's interview to other newspapers.

"I am going to continue right along with my work," Sally said. "My marriage will not interrupt it."

Her wedding is to take place, Miss Clark revealed, at Emmanuel Church in the Back Bay, to be followed by a reception at her aunt's home on Bay State road.

"It will be a large church wedding," she said. "Then I shall go right back to my work."

Miss Marsters, in her story, gave the advice offered to Miss Clark by Berlin during a conference the two had over her career. It was as follows:

Berlin: "Better go home, Sally,"

Sally: "It's no use to tell me to stay home because I won't do that anyway."

Berlin: "All right, I'll give you the advice I'd give my own daughters: Go right ahead and get it out of your system. If you have the talent, then nothing or no one can stop you from succeeding. If you haven't, you'll soon find it out—and so will everyone else."

Wed Garbo? No! Says Stokowski

NEW YORK, Aug. 15 (INS)—Leopold Stokowski, grey-haired conductor of the Philadelphia Philharmonic Orchestra, protested emphatically today that he was not going to marry Greta Garbo with whom his name was linked romantically during the couple's recent stay in Europe.

"I have my friends, I have my acquaintances and I have my work to do," Stokowski told ship news reporters aboard the incoming Normandie. "And, gentlemen, that is the most important thing in the world."

A reporter suggested then that it was work in which he was interested, and not the glamorous film star. The maestro approved the suggestion as correct.

"Are you interested in Miss Garbo?" was the first question.

The answer:

"I am interested, gentlemen, in music. I know you are going to ask me many questions but if they relate to my personal affairs I will not answer them."

The newshawks recalled to Stokowski a statement credited to him last October 28:

"The rumors that I am going to marry Miss Garbo are untrue. Miss Garbo has a group of friends. I am one of that group."

New Knox Book Warns Dictator Peril in U. S.

NEW YORK, Aug. 14—Col. Frank Knox, Chicago publisher and 1936 Republican vice-presidential candidate, says that if New Dealers succeed in pinning the blame for the "recession" on business, "there will be a different form of government in this country.

"No people," he adds in his book, 'We Planned It That Way,' to be published tomorrow, "not even the American people are going to continue to live in the midst of hard times.

"If the New Dealers convince the people that they can take over business, run it better, and free the people from anxiety, this is the straw at which the people will grasp.

"The people of other nations have grasped at the same straw—and in grasping have seen their democratic institutions of government disappear."

Without precisely taxing President Roosevelt with a drive toward dictatorship, Knox devotes a large part of his book to showing the number of what he calls dictatorial powers already in the hands of the President.

Police Dogs May Hunt Boy Hermit

withdrawn today as preparations were made to send up a plane again in an endeavor to spot the youngster, who now is believed to have moved into the 3,000-acre woodland, owned by a cranberry company.

The plane, if it sights the boy, will circle the spot and the dogs, if used, will be taken to that vicinity and placed on the trial to run him into captors' arms.

FEAR FOR HIS SAFETY

This program has been lined out in fear that Alfred may fall prey to swarms of mosquitoes or may injure himself and perish in the woods, so thick in spots that a person can be 10 feet away and still remain completely hidden.

Various reasons for the boy's flight into the woods have been propounded, according to Police Chief Myron B. Hayden of Carver.

One is that Alfred may have become temporarily unstable because of overstudy; another that he may have been disappointed because a girl with whom he recently had been friendly broke off their acquaintance; another that a quarrel he had with his mother over what he should eat for supper last Tuesday may have irked him.

PROMISES, THEN RUNS

The youth's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Dirkevorkian, asked for help in the search after relatives who had gone hunting for him reported that they had sighted him but that each time he eluded them and plunged deeper into the woods.

Use of the dogs was considered —although the boy's own Beagle hound, "Beauty," failed in one attempt—because Alfred failed to keep his promise to Arthur Paananen, an uncle to whom he is greatly attached.

At dusk yesterday, the uncle talked in shouts with the nephew and asked him to return home.

"Okey, uncle, I'm coming out, Alfred cried.

But he turned and plunged again into the woods.

Hines Racket Trial Opens

NEW YORK, Aug. 15 (AP) — Approximately 300 veniremen crowded into Supreme Court Justice Ferdinand Pecora's courtroom today as opposing counsel met to select 12 jurors and two alternates who will hear evidence in the policy racket trial of Tammany District Leader James J. Hines.

Soon there were 187 veniremen left, with the others excused.

Before the jury, taken from a special panel chosen for "alertness, intelligence and common sense" District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey will submit his charges that Hines participated in the control and profits of a $100,000,000 policy racket.

Staked on the outcome of the trial, most spectacular semi-political case here in 25 years or more, are two careers—those of both the young prosecutor, who has never lost a racket case, and Hines, gray veteran of a rough-and-tumble campaigning era.

Also dependent on the jury's verdict, to a degree, is the future of Tammany Hall itself.

JOSEPH SHALLECK
Defense Counsel

Only one of eight defendants indicted with the grizzled Tammany chieftain, Martin Weintraub, small-time policy lawyer, goes on trial with Hines today.

The prosecutor will attempt to show, too, that a partnership existed between Hines and Dutch Schultz, big-time racketeer, who once dominated the "numbers game" in Harlem and most of Manhattan. Schultz was shot down in a Jersey tavern in October, 1935.

The only other defendants under arrest—J. Richard (Dixie) Davis, Schultz's attorney general and heir, George Weinberg, captain of the Schultz strong-arm squad, who was arrested with Davis in Philadelphia February 2, and "Big Harry" Schoenhaus, the only man Schultz trusted with his money—all have pleaded guilty and will testify for the state.

Not yet summoned as witnesses are the two women in Dixie Davis's life: Hope Dare, red-haired actress with whom he shared an apartment at the time of his arrest, and Mrs. Martha Delaney Davis, the wife he left behind.

JAMES J. HINES
Goes on Trial

Rush Away From Hines Jury Duty

NEW YORK, Aug. 15—As the Hines trial opened today Judge Ferdinand Pecora rapped for order and then the clerk of court said:

"All talesmen who wish to be excused come forward."

There was a tremendous rush to the forefront. It looked, for a time, as if nobody wanted to serve on the blue-ribbon jury which is to be chosen. Fully half of the 300 rose and started forward.

One by one talesmen, with yellow slips of paper (their summonses) in their hands, moved to the bench and talked to the judge in low tones.

The judge warned that only legal excuses would be considered.

'I'll Win' Declares Hines

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

NEW YORK, Aug. 15—Jimmy Hines, the Tammany "big shot," thinks he can beat Dewey.

(Nobody important has done it yet.)

"I'll win this fight," Hines told me in court today. "I've been through political fights before."

You get the impression that Hines is a battler. You notice those light blue eyes. They can snap at times. They snapped when he said he'd beat Dewey.

Hines wore a slate blue suit, a blue tie, white shirt and black shoes.

He didn't look worried. There was a bland non-communicative look about his tanned countenance.

You'd think he was relishing this fight. It was obvious, however, that he will make the fight pretty much alone. I couldn't detect another powerful Tammanyite in the crowded courtroom.

"How do you feel about 'Dixie' Davis?" Hines was asked.

"He's all right—he's a fine boy," said Hines. "Oh, yes, he's O. K."

Davis is the former "mouthpiece" of the "Dutch" Schultz gang, who has turned state's evidence to testify against Hines. Dewey charges Hines was the arch "fixer" for the mob.

Jam Sees Hines Placed on Trial

By EDWIN C. HILL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Aug. 15—Jimmy Hines, the man they couldn't get, went to trial today.

Crowds jammed Foley square and Supreme Court Justice Ferdinand Pecora's courtroom to see the "big shot" at bay.

Tammy's most powerful district leader had come to trial at last charged with being the guardian angel of Dutch Schultz' $100,000,000-a-year policy mob.

2 VITAL QUESTIONS

But the attention of the public fastened squarely on the tall, well-set-up figure of Jimmy Hines. Around him swings and surges the drama of the most spectacular prosecution New York has seen in a quarter of a century.

Two main interrogations immediately leap to attention: What grim and tragic matters as yet unknown to the public will be released by the testimony in this case? And what damage will the Hines case revelations do to the already half-shattered structure of Tammany Hall?

Will the murder that lurked in the shadows of the Dutch Schultz gang be brought out into the open?

IN SOMBER SETTING

The onset of a criminal case which has caught and held public interest is curiously like the first night of a much-advertised and talked-about theatrical production. The trial scene is theatrical. The room is plain and dignified.

Directly in front of me is the levated bench where Justice Pecora presides with the firmness and dignity that characterize him. Above his head a silken American flag lies flatly against the ivory wall.

SHOCK TO TAMMANY

Each said he was independent in politics, and had formed no preconceived ideas.

It is entirely possible Weintraub's case will be disposed of before the day is out, though District Attorney Dewey refused comment.

Here is the Hon. James J. Hines, leader of the eleventh assembly district for 26 years, unquestionably the most powerful individual in Tammany Hall, a man who ruled as directly over a quarter of a million people as if he had been a dictator, dragged to court like a common malefactor—this man who even gave orders to judges, so the district attorney contends. Tammany never saw anything like it, and there are old timers going about today shaking their heads and saying they just can't believe it.

War to End Pollution Of Harbor Is Begun

A determined effort to eliminate pollution of waters of Boston harbor, Quincy bay and rivers flowing into them begins today with a conference of a special legislative commission created to study the problem.

Senator Harris S. Richardson of Winchester, head of the special commission, was scheduled to meet with Arthur D. Weston, chief sanitary engineer of the State Health Department, and Eugene C. Hultman, chairman of the Metropolitan District Commission.

Out of this meeting will come the groundwork for the exhaustive survey the commission will make of the entire problem of pollution of Boston waters, in which thousands of men, women and children swim daily during the summer months.

Authorized to expend as much as $25,000 in their work, the commission is empowered to investigate the North and South Metropolitan sewers, which dump 250,000,000 gallons of raw sewage into the harbor and Quincy Bay each day.

Likewise to be studied is the main drainage system, which discharges the city sewage at Moon Island, menacing the health of bathers at beaches along the South Boston, Dorchester and Quincy shore line.

Senator Richardson, cognizant of the need for speed, is ready to bend every effort to complete a rapid, but thorough, investigation in order to report back to the legislature.

The commission's report doubtless will contain recommendations for construction of sewage treatment plants at the outlets of the three main sewage systems.

The North Metropolitan sewer outlet is off Deer Island Light, in Boston harbor, while the South Metropolitan system discharges its sewage at Nut Island. Both these are state-constructed and controlled.

The third, carrying the city of Boston sewage to Moon Island, is regarded as the chief offender in spreading pollution in waters around Boston.

In addition, millions of gallons of raw sewage are dumped into Fort Point Channel annually by the pumping station at Albany and Union Park streets, South End.

Weston has described this stretch of water, where hundreds of men and boys bathe and swim daily, as one of the most polluted streams in Massachusetts.

PLANTS IMPERATIVE

These germ-ridden waters, as well as waters from 54 sewer overflows on the Boston side of the Charles river and along the waterfront, swell the total of poisonous pollution which is dumped into the harbor and Quincy Bay every day.

Experts are agreed that construction of sewage treatment plants at the outlets is the most practical and best solution of the problem of eliminating pollution.

A speedy report, recommending such construction, would allow the passage of legislation to obtain federal aid in the building of these plants. Other cities which have constructed such plants have received 45 per cent of the total cost from the government.

Philip B. Craighead, Public Works Administration engineer in charge of Massachusetts projects, has informed the Boston Evening American the government is anxious to aid in ridding Boston waters of pollution. Speedy action, he said, would permit the obtaining of the federal grants by September 30.

OVERFLOW PROBLEM

Another problem is the pollution from sewer overflows. Department experts estimate at least 10 per cent of the water carried off by these overlows consists of raw sewage.

These and the pumping station in the South End are used when the main sewer to Moon Island is unable to handle a heavy volume of sewage.

The same experts believe that Boston eventually will be compelled to arrange for separate dumping of storm waters from these overflows into the river and harbor to prevent pollution of the city's waterfront.

Active in the fight against pollution is a special committee of the Quincy Chamber of Commerce, numbering in its membership city officials and representatives of other South Shore communities, women's organizations, yacht clubs and community improvement associations.

Heading the committee is former Mayor William A. Bradford, who has labored for 20 years to have decisive action taken on the question of pollution by sewage.

Swim Star Tells Of Ills From Harbor 'Filth'

Describing Boston's Harbor water as the "filthiest" in which he ever swam, Sam Richards of Columbia road, South Boston, famed long-distance swimmer, today lauded the Boston Evening American's effort to end sewage pollution.

Richards, winner of the Boston Light swim and many other contests, declared that he had suffered 300 carbuncles as a result of swimming in the harbor.

Citing his experiences of 35 years in harbor swimming, he said he suffered both major and minor carbuncles during that time because of the impure condition of the water.

BLOOD POISONING

"One carbuncle placed me in City Hospital with blood poisoning," he declared. "At the time I lived in the same house with Dr. James Manary, now superintendent of City Hospital.

"He gave me all kinds of serums and injections in an effort to rid my body of the carbuncles. But my consistent swimming and steady training for races made it impossible for me to get any degree of relief.

"In one instance, swimming to Boston Light and back, I suffered ten carbuncles. Three weeks ago, swimming a quarter-mile, I got two carbuncles, one minor and one major."

Richards told of rowing in a kyak on a calm day two weeks ago and said that under such weather conditions, sewerage never gets as far as Point Allerton. Only a stiff wind from the west or north will take it far out, he declared.

PROTECTION AIM

"My interest in this is to give bathers protection," he said. "I have been swimming all over the country and this is the filthiest water I've seen or swam in.

"And I speak with authority from my many years of swimming and my record in harbor races. The Boston Evening American is to be congratulated in bringing these facts to the attention of the public."

Higher Income Taxes Seen

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15 (AP)—Senator Harrison (D.) of Mississippi said today that unless there was a pick-up in business before Congress meets it might be necessary to lowe rincome tax exemptions and increase the levies in the middle brackets.

Harrison is chairman of the Senate finance committee. An upturn in business, he said, probably would increase government revenues so that the revisions would be unnecessary.

SORE FEET

How Napoleon's Soldiers Fixed Them Up Right

Sore, aching, burning feet probably cause more misery—more distress—more bad temper and cursing than most any other human ailment.

"Oil your feet," ordered Napoleon to his soldiers before a battle or a long march—he was a clever man.

Many a time—overnight—you can take out the sting—the soreness—the burning and aching from your poor distressed feet by giving them a good rubbing with penetrating, medicated OMEGA OIL.

Sleep more soundly and tomorrow morning foot agony will be on its way—thousands know this—you ought to know it—35 cents. "Oil your feet."

$14,400 for Egyptian Cat Stirs Storm in St. Louis

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 15 (AP)—A 13-inch cat—not the soft, purring kind that frolics after mice, but a dull gray metal tabby of reputed 2400-year vintage—has created a furore in St. Louis art circles.

Neither the authenticity nor the artistic merits of the cat are at issue—it's the $14,400 price tag which has stirred up the rumpus among unionists, "reliefers," women's clubs, the city administration and the art museum.

Many have attacked the museum's purchase of the Egyptian figure, said to date back to the fifth century, B. C., "when the city's relief needs are in desperate plight."

Striking union building workers, who have picketed the City Hall here for several weeks, changed their signs recently to read:

"$14,000 for a useless bronze cat—nothing for labor."

"Letter to the Editor"—both pro and con—have swamped St. Louis newspapers. One paper commented editorially.

"The museum has worked itself into a bad hole with the cat."

Another, in an "open letter to a cat," declared:

"Your visit is ill-timed."

Some persons even have recommended repeal of the law supporting the art museum by taxation.

Chief deefndez of the straight-lined animal is the museum's board of control which has termed its purchase one of "the greatest sculptural triumphs of all time" and, "the most important object of its kind in America."

Boy, 7, 'Rescued'

Watertown firemen today chalked up an unusual "rescue," after their call to the home of Fred Toppan of Fitchburg street to free his seven-year-old nephew, Herbert Ruoff of Baltimore, Md. from the bathroom. The boy had become terrified when imprisoned by a broken lock on the bathroom door.

Ford Recalls 23,500, Winds Up '38 Models

DETROIT, Aug. 15 (INS)—Henry Ford called back an estimated 23,500 workers today to wind up production of 1938 model cars.

The recalled production men are expected to continue work on 1938 models for several weeks.

Meanwhile, a spokesman for another manufacturing concern inserted a word of caution in the rising surge of optimism that has followed the announced plans of automobile firms to call men back to work.

The spokesman pointed out the recall of production workers is not a sign of business upturn but a normal procedure that precedes every new model automobile season.

He said factories must work full time to supply dealers with new models during the early part of the season, but that retail sales control the length and speed of continued production.

He added, however, the industry is now in better condition than it has been in months.

DuPont Recalls 2500 Workers

RICHMOND, Aug. 15—An indication of an upturn in business conditions here was given by announcement that increased production had brought the recall of "nearly all" the normal force of 2500 workers back to a five-day week in the rayon unit of the du Pont Co.'s Amphill plant.

The du Pont company has started work on a new $1,000,000 unit to its rayon division, construction of which will engage some 500 workers before completion early next year.

'Explosion' Due In Carroll Case

SOUTH PARIS, Me., Aug. 15—Although former Deputy Sheriff Francis M. Carroll has been found guilty and has joined his accuser, Paul N. Dwyer, as a "lifer" in state's prison, Oxford County officials pressed forward today to still another investigation of the double murder of Dr. and Mrs. James G. Littlefield.

This official activity was matched by that of Carroll's attorneys, Clyde R. Chapman and Edward J. Beauchamp.

Both sources hinted at "new and startling developments" which promised to take the lid off Maine's most baffling mystery, still considered unsolved or not "satisfactorily" solved by Carroll's conviction.

AWAIT 'WHOLE TRUTH'

An official here who requested that his name not be used, said today:

"We do not consider the Littlefield murders completely cleared up. It will not be marked as solved in our books until the whole truth comes out. We believe there will be still other developments—soon. And they will, we think, be of a highly explosive nature."

Attorney Chapman's only comment was:

"We plan other moves, certainly. I shall not disclose them at this time. But the case isn't finished."

It is understood that the investigation concerns a third party at the Dwyer "house of murder" when Dr. Littlefield was bludgeoned and garroted—and that the identity of the unnamed person will give the missing pieces to a pattern which remains crazily incomplete without them.

MOTHER'S HOPE DIM

Two women, victims of the astounding tragedy, made their plans for the future.

Mrs. Jessie Dwyer, mother of Paul, moved to rally such support as she could muster for Paul's release from prison. Her contention is that since Carroll has been found guilty, her boy's innocence of the actual murders has been legally established.

Mrs. Dwyer conferred during the day with Paul's lawyer, E. Walker Abbott, and later with Norman Greenlaw, Oxford County Republican committeeman and close friend of Governor Lewis O. Barrows.

Abbott already has announced he will move for a pardon for young Dwyer "when the right time arrives."

But Mrs. Dwyer admitted today that her hope for her son's early release is dim.

And in the shabby little cottage beyond the end of the paved street—the house she is about to lose on a foreclosed mortgage—Mrs. Ruby Carroll is trying to figure out how she can carry on. She said:

"My little wages in the shoe factory will not support five children. The future looks awfully black for me and the kids."

BARBARA CHANGED

Over Barbara Carroll, "the girl in the case," there had come a strangely sobering change. Her gay mood—which was, some who know her say, a defense against the glare of publicity—had vanished.

She was a crushed, solemn, thoughtful-eyed girl who muttered dully:

"I don't want to appear in any night clubs. I don't want to be in the headlines any more. My father is innocent; it's a terrible thing they're done to him. Paul Dwyer—oh, how I hate him now!

"I want to get back to the days when I was just Barbara Carroll, not a name in the headlines.

"They have called me so many names since my father's trial started that I don't care any more what they say or think. I just want to stay home, help my mother around the house, and have the comradeship of my family and friends, and join again in all the town activities I enjoy.

"I want to join the dramatic club and go around to the town socials and live a normal, happy life."

DWYER DESPONDENT

In Thomaston State Prison, Paul Dwyer, who presumably had a hope of freedom with the conviction of his sweetheart's father for the crime to which he himself had pleaded guilty, seemed strangely despondent.

For hours Paul sat motionless in his cell, seemingly oblivious to everything going on about him.

Warden John H. Welch said:

"Paul Dwyer is like a man in a trance. We've never seen him like this before, and we can't figure out what has come over him. Elation? No. He just sits and stares."

Warden Welch said "every effort" will be made to keep Carroll and Dwyer from meeting when Carroll comes out of quarantine.

"Carroll will be warned that it will go hard with him if he has any trouble with Dwyer," the warden said.

Warden Welch added that Dwyer, who has been a model prisoner, may be transferred to work in the prison gardens outside the walls.

Powder-Keg Set to Go As Hitler Masses Army

Germany's army reserve units began fall maneuvers in what appeared to be a gigantic test of the speed and facility of her motorized army transport. Military observers estimated from 500,000 to 1,000,000 men were participating.

Britain and France gave evidence of considerable concern over Germany's exercises close to the Czechoslovak and French frontiers.

Europe's anxiety arose primarily from fear that a border incident might provoke a conflict. Relations between Germany and Czechoslovakia have been strained by Nazi support for the autonomy demands of Czechoslovakia's Sudeten Germany minority.

Germany herself, however, professed to consider the maneuvers routine and of no hidden significance.

JAP TROOPS ADVANCE

Soviet Russia and Japan accused each other today of violating the Changkufeng truce on the Siberian-Manchoukuoan frontier as Europe anxiously waited to know whether vast German army maneuvers meant war or war games.

The Soviet Government indicated there almost had been a new clash after the August 11 truce.

It charged that Japanese troops had moved into advanced positions after the armistice and were withdrawn after a warning to Tokyo.

Domei (Japanese news agency) declared Russia had broken the truce by constructing dugouts within the arranged no-man's land.

Japan protested, the news agency said, and received assurances Russia would observe the truce but construction of the dugouts continued in the 180-yard-wide neutral zone.

CHINA'S LINES HOLDING

A survey of the Yangtze river front in China showed that Japanese gains have been almost negligible since the capture July 26 of Kiukiang, 135 miles downriver from Hankow, China's provisional capital.

Chinese military authorities declared each day of delay cost the Japanese so heavily in men, money and material that stalemate was equivalent to a Chinese victory.

Japanese planes again bombed Canton and the Canton-Hankow railroad.

Uneasy Street

GREAT BRITAIN

LONDON, Aug. 15 (INS)—Uneasiness in Czechoslovakia over the German military maneuvers is growing rapidly, according to reports here today. British and French statesmen refused to become alarmed although they remained alert for trouble.

All signs pointed to a waning of the week-end war scare that rocked Europe.

It was believed that one reason for the better feeling in London and Paris was a report that Marshal Italo Balbo, on a visit to Germany, had transmitted to Chancellor Hitler the advice of Premier Mussolini against taking any sudden, drastic action.

Reports of serious clashes in German Silesia, including interference with rearmanent efforts, were published by British newspapers today.

The Manchester Guardian, in a dispatch from Warsaw, said sections of the upper Silesian population is sabotaging German fortification projects.

It added that nearly 500 workers, miners and farmers had been arrested.

CZECHOSLOVAKIA

PRAHA, Czechoslovakia, Aug. 15 (AP)—Authoritative circles today indicated the Czechoslovak government was willing to accept German assurances to Britain and France that fall war maneuvers are not aggressive.

A regular meeting of Czechoslovakia's supreme wra council tomorrow will have no unusual significance, officials asserted.

GERMANY

BERLIN, Aug. 1 (AP)—Germany's army reserve units began fall maneuvers today in what appeared to be a gigantic demonstration to test the speed and facility of motorized army transport.

Although other countries gave evidence of grave concern, an effort was made here to calm what were termed "exaggerated and disturbing reports."

Preparations for the two weeks of reserve training were noted chiefly in southern Germany (close to Czechoslovakia and to France) but they extended also to the districts around the capital.

French Ship Sunk By Mine; 14 Saved

LONDON, Aug. 15 (AP)—Lloyd's said today a report had been received from the German steamer Theresia L. M. Russ that the 439-ton French steamer Artois had struck a mine in the western Mediterranean and sunk late yesterday.

The German ship radioed she was landing 14 survivors at Gibraltar today, but did not say whether all the crew were saved.

Paper Says Nazis Rule All Mexico

NEW YORK, Aug. 15 (INS)—The New York Enquirer, in a copyrighted story, declared "Nazi Germany has taken control of Mexico" and that Chancelor Hitler has made "a willing puppet of the Cardenas government."

One thousand five hundred German military officers are engaged in instructing the Mexican army, increasing the country's munitions output and directing exploitation of Mexico's economic resources, "all in the interest of Nazi Germany," the newspaper stated.

"Cooperating with Nazi Germany . . . is the Empire of Japan. Fascist Italy, too, is a deeply interested partner,' the Enquiror declared.

The story was authorized by R. L. and R. P. Martin, who wrote "an exhaustive survey covering every phase of the Mexican situation from 1936 until today makes it possible to reveal for the first time the true state of affairs in Mexico."

"Evidence exists to show that a secret verbal pact involving military as well as economic cooperation has been in force for the past two and a half years, between officials of the Cardenas administration and representatives of Nazi Germany and her allies," their story stated.

Poison Victim Under Treatment

Robert Heffernon, 32, of Clarendon street, today was recovering from the effects of a poisonous liquid.

The youth's life was saved when he pulled in a citizen's alarm, summoning police to take him to the hospital.

Roosevelt Talk On Air Tonight

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15 (INS)—Politicos speculated on whether President Roosevelt, during his radio address on the Social Security Act tonight, will bestow his blessings on Rep. David J. Lewis (D) of Maryland, the "inner circle's" choice to send Senator Tydings to political oblivion.

Mr. Roosevelt will broadcast an accounting of the administration of the act over a nation-wide hookup at 10:30 p. m. (EDT). The occasion is the third anniversary of the signing of the act, keystone of the New Deal's entire socio-economic reform program.

Lewis is co-sponsor of the Social Security Act. He will be one of the honored guests at a banquet arranged in the capital in conjunction with the anniversary celebration. Mr. Roosevelt, political observers said, could laud Lewis for his work in helping to drive through Congress the legislation which bears his name.

This pat on the back, it was pointed out, could be taken as a thrust at Tydings, who has been added to the "purge" list by the New Deal board of strategy.

White House officials insisted, however, Mr Roosevelt's talk will be "very general"

Elaborate ceremonies have been arranged in conjunction with the anniversary celebration. At a banquet hall removed from the White House retreat from which Mr. Roosevelt will broadcast, high government, labor and business officials will extoll the progress of social legislation.

Speakers will include Senators Wagner (D) of New York, co-sponsor with Lewis of the legislation, Arthur J. Altmeyer, chairman of the social security board; Frances Perkins, secretary of labor; Oscar L. Chapman, assistant secretary of the department of interior; Katherine F. Lenroot, chief of the children's bureau, labor department, and Josephine Roche.

Mr. Roosevelt departs from the capital again either Tuesday or Wednesday for Kingston, Ontario, where he receives a degree from Queens University. Before leaving, however, a desk piled with knotty economic and political problems are to be cleared.

LEAVES OUT THE KNOTS

CLEMSON COLLEGE, S.C. (AP)—It takes no longer to grow a pine tree free of knots in its trunk than it does one filled with knotholes. Therefore, D. R. Brewster, extension forester, is advising timber men to prune their pine trees and produce clear lumber.

Bay State Cash For Relief Now Near Depletion

Massachusetts cities and towns will have exhausted all cash for relief within the next two weeks, it was announced today by Theodore N. Waddell, director of the division of accounts of the State Department of Corporations and Taxation.

At the same time, Waddell forecast that "no one will starve" and that the situation would be met by a borrowing law or through special emergency legislation.

"The reason for the trouble is WPA," Waddell stated. "Local communities spent vast sums on materials and supplies to finance WPA projects and then found that WPA was not relieving their relief load.

"Smaller amounts also were appropriated by many communities in view of Washington forecasts for a big improvement in business."

It was disclosed that Boston will finish up the year about $1,000,000 short. Waddell said that the city would find it easy to borrow the necessary additional relief money.

1,650,000 Ask Security Listing

More than 1,650,000 persons have applied for Social Security account numbers in Massachusetts, it was disclosed today by John Pearson, regional board director, in connection with the third anniversary of Federal Social Security.

A total of $22,498,622 was paid out in this state for public assistance, including old age, blind and dependent children grants.

Old age insurance claims here totalled $334,470; unemployment insurance benefits, $12,847,629; grants for maternal and child health, crippled children and public health work, $865,171; grants for administration of unemployment insurance and state employment services, $3,901,096.

'Loaded' Dice

BARTLESVILLE, Okla., Aug. 15 (AP)—The only winners in a crap game at a secluded spot near here were four uninvited "players." They took the entire "pot"—estimated at $1000.

Well armed, they met each carload of invited players as they arrived at the densely-wooded rendezvous, persuaded them to ante their entire resources and then lie on the ground.

Police Chief Ed Hazlitt said the "winners" had forced the occupants of about 25 cars to join the "game" before calling it an afternoon.

PWA to Put Brakes on Allotments

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15 (AP)—The Public Works Administration soon will slap a state quota on loans and grants in an effort to equalize participation in its 1938 construction program.

Officials said today this was decided by Howard A. Gray, acting administrator, when a recapitulation Friday disclosed the program was 15 days ahead of schedule, its funds two-thirds gone, and a relatively large number of states still backward in qualifying for projects.

The quota system, informants said, will be aimed chiefly at slowing down allotments to states which have been exceptionally active, until the more backward ones have had opportunity to file a fair share of applications.

Gray and Administrator Ickes, they explained, will be sole judge of a state's fair share of WPA allotments. Their decision will be based on the individual state's population, taxes paid, and its nominal position in federal programs.

PWA had allotted by last Friday $687,000,000 of $935,000,000 authorized for loans and grants. This left only $248,000,000 to be allotted before applications are closed Sept. 30.

2514 Dwellings Built in State

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15 (AP)—Approximately 2514 dwelling units were constructed in urban areas of Massachusetts during the first half of 1938, according to estimates of the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

This figure compares with a total of 2688 dwelling units for the same state during the first half of 1937.

Mary! Will You Fail to Heed This?

Near death from burns and a failing heart a Malden mother asked over and over again today for "Mary."

It was her daughter Mary Aiden she wanted. But Mary didn't come.

The mother, Mrs. Anne Garrett of Glenwood avenue, Malden, was in serious condition at Malden Hospital today.

She was scalded recently when a pot of boiling coffee was overturned on her.

A physician heard a cry from which she afterward was unconscious, for help.

Today doctors feared she might not live. Efforts to locate Mary in order that she might be helped her failed.

MRS JOHN HARTE

Perhaps now she would if her daughter Mary could be found and could be brought to the hospital.

Friends of the family recalling Mrs. Harte issued an appeal through the Boston Evening American.

"Mary, your mother needs you. Please come home!"

Streamlined Printing Is Parley Theme

Streamlined trend in modern printing was the theme today of two programs attending the opening session at the Statler Hotel of the 38th annual convention of the International Association of Printing Craftsmen.

Delegates attended 22 representatives from foreign countries.

New discoveries in color printing processes, book making, typography and type and layout were features of opening addresses.

Highlight of the exhibits was the newest printed book in the world, printed in Worcester. The text was set in 6-point Caslon and has 28 pages. Twenty-four volumes will be produced every thirteen weeks.

Chairman of the convention was Philip J. McGinn, president of the Boston Printing House Craftsmen.

Principal speaker of the opening session was William Morrison of Dartmouth and Company, who discussed the future of printing in the United States.

Free 5 Suspects In Jewel Holdup

Five suspects held in connection with the $2,000 jewel holdup of a Washington society woman were released today when the victim, Frederick B. Snyder, and other witnesses failed to identify them in a police headquarters lineup.

One suspect, a Revere man, was one of the gunmen in the jewel holdup and permitted the victim's Negro butler, Arthur Brooks, to believe that he had been part of the holdup and agree to would be under arrest.

Legislators Near Session Record In Deadlock

Massachusetts deadlocked legislature today reached the record for endurance and tomorrow is due to break the all-time record for continuous session.

With three measures still before it, the House of Representatives will be called into formal session tomorrow.

The longest the legislators had ever sat was three years ago when the then Governor James M. Curley refused permission for prorogation until August 15.

The chief point of contention is distribution of $5,000,000 of highway gas tax funds that Governor Hurley wants handled through the state public works department. The legislative majority of both branches insist upon distribution through cities and towns.

After that question is settled there will remain the formal setting of the state assessment apportionment to cities and towns for state expenses and the annual surtax of 10 per cent on personal incomes among the various brackets.

Death Ends Rampage

BULLETS KILL MADMAN—Shot down by police guns Charles San Filippo, a maniac, is shown here lying dead in Central Park, New York. Before being slain he had suddenly run amok at a police memorial service, wounding five persons in a blaze of rifle and shotgun fire. He had brooded over a summons for a minor traffic offense. G-Men Track Desperadoes

CHICAGO Aug. 15 (INS)—Squads of G-men today combed Chicago's underworld haunts in the hunt for two armed desperadoes, Floyd Hamilton and "Hiram Ted" Walters, surviving members of the Barrow gang who were reported to have fled here following their escape from a police trap near Little Rock, Ark.

Both gunmen sought for bank robbery and murder slipped by a posse which had them cornered near Ivy Queen, Ark., when they abandoned their car and fled into a nearby swamp.

Members of the notorious outlaw gang once headed by the late Clyde Barrow and the gun-amusing sweetheart Bonnie Parker, Hamilton and Walters are wanted for bank robberies at Bradley, Ark., and Wood River, Ill.

Hurley Opens Campaign at Hull Tomorrow

Governor Hurley will launch his campaign for renomination tomorrow at a testimonial dinner at Pemberton Inn at Hull.

Thus far, the governor has been silent in the face of repeated campaign criticism from his Democratic opponents, former Governor Curley, Lieutenant Governor Francis E. Kelly and former Congressman Richard M. Russell.

In the latest attack on the Governor, Curley at New Bedford charged that he had failed to care for the unemployed and repeatedly had slighted the "newer races."

At Worcester, Kelly attacked the administrations of both Hurley and Curley, charging that both had shown no consideration for the problem of people of moderate means.

Indication that Russell's campaign was about to become active came with announcement that he had chosen ex-Representative Patrick B. Carr as his campaign manager.

Trio Rob Aide Of Funeral Home

Three young and well-dressed bandits early today answered the attendant at the A. E. Long funeral home, Massachusetts avenue, Cambridge, and escaped with $71 of his personal funds.

J. W. Maloney, 24, who lives upstairs, answered the doorbell to find three guns pointed at him. The bandits took $71, money Maloney said he was saving to buy an engagement ring, and then forced him to open the funeral offices downstairs.

While they rummaged through papers, Maloney made a dash for the basement, from where he telephoned police as the bandits fled.

Chinese Girl Leads Class

Surmounting the difficulties of a strange language, Dora Chia-Hsiu Sun, a 22-year-old Chinese girl, leads a class of 40 in the Harvard Summer School's playwriting course.

With this prestige backing her up, she hopes to become the leader of a movement to "westernize" the Chinese drama.

Miss Sun came to America three years ago, studied at Mills College in California and got her M. A. at Mt. Holyoke. In June she entered John Mason Brown's class at Harvard.

Gulf 'Hurricane' Subsides Quickly

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 15 (AP) The first storm of the Gulf of Mexico's annual hurricane season blew itself out today in southwestern Louisiana with no serious damage reported.

The blow struck last night at 50 miles an hour, less than hurricane force, on the sparsely settled Louisiana coast near Cameron, a fishing village of about 100 inhabitants 35 miles from the Texas coast.

John's Bridal Trip Over, Back to Work

Massachusetts permanently register at once as a voter, but "leave politics to the other members of the family."

He believes now that merchandising will be his career. He's going to start at the bottom and work up "and no fooling about it."

"I read all the controversy about my brother Jim's insurance income," John said today.

WON'T INVESTIGATE SALARY

"One thing's sure. They'll never start investigating my earnings. It would cost 'em more than I'm apt to get for a good many years.

"What I said last June about going into the advertising business was really just an excuse.

"I didn't want to admit I had a job in a department store lined up, because that could have been checked up and it would have been a nuisance for Filene's management.

"Somebody in a position to know once told me something I won't forget.

"That person told me a young man starting in business could do nothing so foolish as to try to capitalize any advantage of birth."

WILL FOLLOW ADVICE

"He warned me I'd always have to avoid exploiting my name myself and guard against having it exploited by employers or associates.

"I'm going to try to keep that advice in mind."

The Lady Drake entered Boston harbor last night, but lay at anchor until time to dock today. The press delegation, including reporters, photographers and newsreel cameramen, went out to the ship in a customs barge.

ANNE'S FASCIST SALUTE

Asked to point across the ship's rail, as if to be saying to Anne "There's Boston," John chuckled:

"That's out to sea you want me to point," he said, "but I'll play."

Then when Anne was asked to wave as if to friends ashore, and she raised her right arm somewhat stiffly, John shouted:

"Hi, Anne, not like that. That's the Fascist salute!"

Of her sister Sally's engagement, announced last night after many denials, Anne said:

"Oh, it wasn't news to me. Sally wrote me all about it. I'm glad, for her George is a nice boy."

PET DOG OVERJOYED

Sally and John Roosevelt's charming young mother-in-law, Mrs. F. Haven Clark of Back Bay and Nahant met John and Anne at the dock.

Outside the pier, in the Clark auto, was waiting Percy, Anne's pet dachshund, forlorn and inconsolable during the departure of the honeymooners.

He wriggled all over John and Anne in his ecstasy at seeing them again.

Sally entertained John, Anne and her mother briefly in her suite at the Ritz Carlton.

Then the party went to the Clark summer home in Nahant, where John and Anne will remain until their Brookline apartment is ready.

Deny James Roosevelt's Influence in Sinclair Case

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15 (INS) — The Department of Justice today publicly chastised Alva Johnston, nationally known magazine writer, for "falsely" intimating the Department had dismissed an indictment so that James Roosevelt, son and secretary of the President, might make an insurance sale.

The department, in an official and unusually strongly-worded statement, referred to dismissal of an indictment against E. W. Sinclair and to the insinuation that the Department may have been influenced by young Roosevelt, who sought to write a policy for Sinclair's brother, Harry, the oil magnate.

The department contended Johnston's insinuation was a direct reflection on the integrity of the four federal attorneys involved in prosecuting oil companies at Madison, Wis.

"No outside representations of any kind from any source were brought to the attention of either the grand jury or these attorneys," the department said.

"They were uninfluenced by James Roosevelt or anyone else and it may be of interest to note that none of the attorneys had any acquaintance or connection with James Roosevelt, direct or indirect.

"The slightest inquiry would have disclosed the true facts as above recited and the consequent falsity of (Johnston's) charge."

The furore over young Roosevelt's income began when Johnston in a magazine article charged that James' insurance business was booming among corporations and individuals having business with the federal government.

The President's aides last week-end answered the article and charges of a tremendous income and pinpointing phoniness of his income tax return.

THREE 85 H.P. FORD SEDANS PROVE V-8 ECONOMY IN 15,218-MILE MOBILGAS-MOBILOIL RUN!

IN a 15,218-mile run, sponsored by the Socony-Vacuum Oil Company and the Ford Dealers of New England, three Ford V-8 De Luxe Tudor Sedans have again conclusively demonstrated the outstanding economy of the 85 horsepower Ford V-8 engine—under all kinds of driving conditions.

Powered with regular Mobilgas and lubricated with Mobiloil, the three cars hung up a grand average of 22.26 V-8 miles per gallon of gasoline for the run. No oil was added between regular changes. They were driven at legal speeds and all necessary stops for traffic were made. The cars used in this test were 100% stock Ford V-8's, with identically the same carburetors, ignition systems and gear ratios that you get in any 1938 De Luxe V-8.

Your Ford Dut will gladly show you Ford in exactly like those used in this interesting test and let you drive them. He wants you to know the thrilling performance and fine economy that goes with this beautiful car! Be sure to see these modern, great cars today!

Boston After Dark

By JACK CONWAY

Premier Mussolini has had most of his personal dental work done by a Jewish dentist . . . I have been unable to find out whether Mussolini has changed his dentist since he started placing restrictions on the Jews . . . A man with a toothache usually does not care who relieves him of his pain.

JACK CONWAY

Mrs. Gil English, wife of the former Bees' outfielder who has been traded to Kansas City, left her diamond engagement ring and wedding ring on a wash basin at National League Park, and when she returned looking for them they had disappeared . . . Mrs. English is hopeful her rings will be returned to her.

Sheriff John A. Keliher has named trusted lieutenants to conduct his campaign for re-election in every section of Suffolk County . . . Keliher has never lost a county fight, and says this year will not be an exception . . . The sheriff, rated highly as a political strategist, will act as his own campaign manager.

A Word from the Veterans

A letter from David Epstein, commander of the Lotta M. Crabtree Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, says:

"The officers and men of the Lotta M. Crabtree Post No. 3718, Veterans of Foreign Wars, have unanimously requested that I extend to you their sincere thanks in appreciation of your article in 'Boston After Dark' relative to the alarming increase in the deaths of veterans.

"Today, 20 years after the war, there are too many who are ready and willing to forget the sacrifices made in those days of 1917 and 1918. We feel that when a man in your position can find space in his column to remember those men that he is still a friend of the veteran and unquestionably will remain so at all times."

It is my contention that government agencies should cut out all red tape and extend themselves to the utmost to aid sick and unfortunate veterans.

Pat Hanley Takes Charge

Pat Hanley, famous Boston University football coach, today took charge of the coaching of the College All-Stars who will clash with the Chicago Bears at Brown University's Stadium in a night game on September 1 . . . The selection of Hanley to coach the All-Stars is in recognition of his remarkable success as football boss at Boston University . . . Tom Sheehan has signed to do the publicity for the Boston Shamrocks as the coming season . . . The Shamrocks will open their season with a night game against an All Star college outfit, on September 14 at Fenway Park.

Sammy Fuller, the boxer, has asked me to drop in at the opening of his new restaurant on Tremont street, almost opposite the Metropolitan Theater, tomorrow . . . Sammy says he has invested eight grand in the place . . . He will feature food . . . No liquor.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Blacklow of Dorchester are honeymooning in Bermuda, and later will visit Maine . . . Mrs. Blacklow is the former Miss Frances Cohan of Dorchester, sister of Sam Cohan, sports editor of the Daily Record.

The various State and local campaigns are at least helping in the rental space . . . The North Shore, South Shore and Cape have not been neglected . . . When former Governor Curley opened a headquarters in Scituate with its 25,000 Summer residents, Governor Hurley did likewise.

Fire Commissioner William Arthur Reilly was quite happy when he called my attention to the recent victory of Harry McDonough in the South Shore Junior Yacht championships off Duxbury . . . Harry is the son of Supervisor of Firehouse John McDonough, and has proved he is expert in handling yachts and sail boats . . . There may be a business recession, but you cannot prove it by the turnstile at the handle of Wonderland Park where the greyhounds have been in action for 64 nights . . . The handle was $5,784,066 against $10,624,173 in 63 nights of racing last year . . . Russ Murray and Shannon H Fairbanks, who had charge of the Revere racing, also have the latest good racing . . . The crowds were up to those of a year ago, while the drop of $14,000 a night in the handle was only a drop in the bucket . . . Chairman Charles F Centore of the Massachusetts Racing Commission was pleased at the way dog racing was conducted at Revere Beach and Wonderland Stadium.

Colonel Commissioner Joseph C White candidate for lieutenant governor, has opened headquarters at the Hotel Lenox . . . As the only Boston College graduate on the state ticket, White has received the support of members of various Boston College clubs.

Writing Slant Weather Vane

U. S. Scientists Reveal 'Skim Milk Clothing'

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15 (AP)—[illegible] experts soon may suggest: "Wear skim milk suits and dresses."

The Agriculture Department announced today on an [illegible] a process of making [illegible] from casein, a by-product of skim milk.

The new fiber, the department said, has a chemical composition similar to wool. It was described as [illegible] yellow closely resembling the best grade of [illegible] wool.

Although commercial production plans have not been definitely determined, the scientists said they believed the fiber could be priced on a par with rayon, a synthetic silk made from vegetable fibers.

Rayon plants might manufacture synthetic wool merely by using casein instead of cellulose and changing chemical solutions, experts said.

The department observed that because of an almost unlimited supply of skim milk, it would be possible to produce as much as a billion pounds of the synthetic wool annually.

Ruinous Inflation

The Editor Says: One kind of inflation is beneficial. It is controlled reflation, which encourages industrial recovery and makes possible the re-employment of millions of our people.

But there is another kind of inflation—a kind aptly represented by the artist. This is INFLATED TAXATION, which closes factory doors, destroys jobs and increases poverty.

Nobody will deny that new hopes for business revival have been stirred up. As a result of the Federal spend-lend and reflationary monetary policy, the psychological basis for recovery has been set.

Accordingly there is an opportunity to justify reviving confidence by removing the CAUSES of maladjustment and depression.

Failure to take those fundamental steps, however, will tend to make recovery short lived, and the resultant pessimism would be deplorable indeed.

IT IS IMPORTANT to remember that monetary stimulants by themselves are NOT ENOUGH. Salvation through Federal spending is but a TEMPORARY EXPEDIENT.

The benefits are but momentary in effect, like the burning of a match until the wood is charred.

The opportunity for statesmanship at this time of mounting hopes is to SOOTH THE DEFLATIONARY INFLUENCES.

Those factors requiring remedial treatment include excessive and oppressive taxation, including Secretary Hull's Free Trade fantasies, [illegible] business buying and spreading of prosperity [illegible] Wagner act, and a broad effort to calm [illegible] among the groups rather than [illegible]

We are pleased that the Boston Evening American was able to bring this boy's plight to official attention.

Gerard readers will remember, was "orphaned" when his father and mother were deported to Canada as aliens illegally in this country. The fact that he was born in Massachusetts made him an American citizen. For that reason, the government at Ottawa [illegible] admit him.

One of Gerard's best friends and a man who deserves liberal praise is Mayor Fred E. Perry of Gardner. When it appeared that the child might be forced to go to an asylum, the mayor offered to take him into his own home.

Later, after Canadian officials agreed to receive the boy, it was the Perry automobile that took him to the border.

The Political Parade

By GEORGE ROTHWELL BROWN

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15

MR. ROOSEVELT was actuated by the loftiest motives of honor and fair play when at Warm Springs last week he called upon the people of his "second home," Georgia, to elect Lawrence Camp to the United States Senate.

It revealed the President at his very best, not merely a hard hitter, but a square shooter.

He went to the rescue of District Attorney Camp when that gentleman was sinking into the mire of political oblivion.

• • •

THE PRESIDENT did this undoubtedly accurately informed as to the senatorial situation in the Cracker State, and fully realizing that in supporting Mr. Camp, who had no chance to win without the presidential blessing, and probably a very slender chance to win with it, he was subjecting his own prestige in the national field to a hazard many men might have avoided.

It was a courageous thing that the President did. The moral obligation was too strong to be ignored whatever the danger to himself.

• • •

THE MORAL obligation? Mr. [illegible] the New Deal candidate for the Senate as the personal candidate of the President of the United States.

The President has endorsed other candidates, and senators and governors, before.

But Camp stands in a class by himself. Just before the expiration of the time for filing in the Georgia primaries, and when the two rival Democratic machines of Savannah, among the most powerful in the state, had declared for the renomination of Senator George, Marvin McIntyre, White House secretary, went down to Atlanta.

An arrangement was entered into whereby District Attorney Camp was brought out as the New Deal candidate, as the clock was striking the well-known seventh hour.

The President must have given the "go sign." "Mac" doesn't do big things like that on his own.

Part of the understanding was that Gov. E. D. Rivers himself [illegible] for another term would [illegible] powerful state [illegible]

• • •

THAT SOMETHING happened. The [illegible] just [illegible] big [illegible] The big [illegible] for [illegible]

[illegible] Camp [illegible] Without [illegible] and [illegible] Warm Springs [illegible] the President [illegible] what the President will do with his hand.

For weeks after that the supposition gained ground in Washington and in Georgia that Mr. Roosevelt would not directly aid Georgia to defeat Senator George, and elect Camp to the Senate.

Those who guessed that way didn't know F. D. Roosevelt.

• • •

THE PRESIDENT MAY go down to defeat in Georgia.

But if he does go down to defeat in Georgia he will go down with colors flying.

He has stood by the man he put into the race for office.

Politicians do not always do that, when on a hot spot.

The Brighter Side

Roosevelt Gives George a Saxey Boost

By DAMON RUNYON

Copyright 1938 by King Features Syndicate, Inc., in the United States, Great Britain and all other countries.

IT IS PROBABLY just coincidence but sometimes Mr. Roosevelt talks as if he might have known that character frequently mentioned in this column in the past—a certain Mr. Sax, who was the author of the celebrated Saxey boost.

Certainly Mr. Roosevelt is now past master of the Saxey boost and he follows the pattern of the author so closely that you might think he had studied under Mr. Sax himself, though, of course, that is extremely unlikely.

Mr. Sax lived out in the northwest and he would say of almost anybody you mentioned that he happened to know, "Yes, Joe is sure a nice fellow. Yes, sir, he's as nice a fellow as I ever met and big hearted and honest and intelligent and a good friend of mine but let me tell you what the dirty [illegible] —and so one did."

Damon Runyon

That formula became known among sporting fellows all over the west as the Saxey boost and from it derived the expression "weighing in the Sax" as meaning damning with loud praise. We got to wondering if Mr. Roosevelt had ever met Mr. Sax from the moment Mr. Roosevelt began talking about those "yes—but" men and now we find him down in Georgia saying of Senator George:

"Let me make it clear that he is and I hope he always will be, my personal friend. He is beyond question a gentleman and a scholar and so also are other gentlemen for whom I have an affectionate regard, but—"

WELL, you can see for yourself how it fits in with Mr. Sax' style, only, of course, Mr. Roosevelt cannot go in for those picturesque expletives that the westerner employed, though occasionally we suspect that Mr. Roosevelt wishes he could.

Now the advantages of the Saxey boost are many. Suppose you have weighed in the Sax good and plenty on some fellow and it reaches his ears and he comes around to punch your nose for you. It is a simple matter to disarm him by pointing out that you said he was a great guy. That relieves you of the charge of defamation of character but it still leaves the old ringeroo in there.

In another form the Saxey boost is known as the velvet knock as illustrated by the old time crack "some fellow pays the drinks." Then there is another variation of the Saxey boost that is known as [illegible] though this is a surreptitious form not always immediately recognizable and usually applied against a friendship or a job that the knocker wishes to destroy.

THE truth of the matter is that many of us are inclined to resort a good knock against someone else. We will bet that a lot of those fellows who listened to Mr. Roosevelt administer his Saxey boost to Senator George and applauded Mr. Roosevelt's remarks are supposed to be good friends of the senator and perhaps beneficiaries of his political kindness in the past, but they went there just to hear the senator get his come-uppance from the President instead of remaining away in disapproval.

However that is nothing to worry about, as they will be applauding Senator George just as vociferously when he gets around to giving Mr. Roosevelt a Saxey boosting on his own account. One thing about the Saxey boost as we have discovered after long observation, it always breaks about even.

ACHEW! Achew and achew! That is supposed to represent sneezes - for the sneeze season is now at its height. In other words, hay fever victims are having a terrible time.

This week the New England Museum of Natural History in Boston is giving a demonstration of the cause of hay fever, as well as remedies for it.

Ann Marsters

The chief offender, they say, is ragweed - a feathery, tall-growing weed of the roadsides. Its companions in crime are blossoms of oak trees and a host of grasses including timothy and orchard.

The pollen grains are blown about by the wind, and have certain protein chemicals that are poisonous to many people.

The first thing to do about it is find out what particular plant you are sensitive to, and be inoculated against it.

Then start a campaign to pull up or cut down, BEFORE flowering time, all the ragweed you can reach. But it won't be of any use unless neighbors co-operate, because the wind will carry the pollen right into your back yard.

Lastly, STAY AWAY FROM PLACES WHERE YOU KNOW THE EVIL PLANTS ARE GROWING.

And if you follow all these instructions, you'll probably sneeze only half as much as usual.

REFLECTION: Isn't it an awful feeling to go to the movies (before dinner) and see a luscious-looking meal served before you to the actors on the screen? Hunger is heightened at least 100 per cent, and everything they're eating looks SO good.

Then there are those champagne parties with the hero and heroine gaily sipping, and fairly making your mouth water—if you happen to like champagne.

Of course, you can always tell yourself that the actors aren't enjoying their meal or their champagne. What you're seeing is probably the 10th time they've had to go through the scene, and the champagne is just soda water, or gingerale.

WHAT becomes of child prodigies? A few columns ago, we spoke of Nathalia Crane who began publishing remarkable poetry at the age of nine.

Nathalia has just had her 25th birthday—and she has been appointed membership secretary of the Brooklyn Institute of Arts and Sciences. And she will continue to teach at the Pratt Institute, also of Brooklyn. Furthermore she plans to publish two more books during the winter.

The little and, the tiny if,
The ardent ahs and ohs,
They haunt the lanes of poesy,
The boulevards of prose.

Small primpers of the passages
With very slender limbs,
And yet they make alliances
With lordly paradigms.

New York Cavalcade

HOLLYWOOD: For days I have been promising myself to take advantage of the kind offer of those enterprising young gentlemen who volunteer—for a slight fee—to show you the principal places of interest in Hollywood. I have not done that, but I did ride around the other night with Ralph Wheelwright, and from my henpecky notes I gathered that Time as is its trite habit had wrought many changes. This where once was the far-famed Mack Sennett pool, where the shapely blossoms of the silent cinema floated, there is now something that looks very much like a junk heap and no one stops ever for a second in visiting a certain bungalow court to remember that here occurred a thriller murder of a glamorous Hollywood figure named William Desmond Taylor.

Louis Sobol

WE PASSED what had been the homes of Mary Pickford, Barbara LaMarr, Ben Turpin, Lew Cody, Roscoe Arbuckle, Mabel Normand, Harold Lloyd and others in the days when young engineers were dreaming their dreams of pictures which could be heard as well as seen and, to a stranger in town, vague memories pinched. Most of them are gone—some tripped by tragedy and only Miss Pickford and Lloyd held on to their places in the sun—and moved to bigger palaces.

ROLLING ALONG Wilshire Boulevard, near the section known as Westlake, you come plump into a series of neglected statues in disconcerting poses - holding a hand aloft or standing with foot extended and thus have I needed the aid of Wheelwright for somehow they seemed familiar, yet I knew them not. Ralph told me. These were the figures so often pressed into service in the good old Keystone cop chases when the pursued, who consequently was Charlie Chaplin clutched on an adjoining pedestal and assumed a like pose.

ONE of the interesting young women here is Barbara Rothschild, slim in her twenties. The girl, formerly an actress and convinced that only a haphazard system confronted her organized an enterprise which she named Limited Personal Service. For a small fee Miss Rothschild interviews prospective servants, obtains your theater or night club reservations, types manuscripts, sends out invitations for your intimate or elaborate house party, rents a house, meets a train, sends flowers, takes your telephone calls, writes your thank-you notes, arranges for your train, plane or boat accommodations, does your shopping or will even be the guest of your husband to a boring party you wish to escape.

Senator George

by Hugh S. Johnson

BETHANY BEACH, Del.—"And Joab said to Amasa, art thou in health, my brother? And Joab took Amasa by the beard with the right hand to kiss him. But Amasa took no heed to the sword that was in Joab's hand: so he smote him therewith in the fifth rib and shed out his bowels to the ground." This happened before a crowd in a great political contest 3000 years ago because Joab, who was Captain of the Hosts, didn't like Amasa's "co-operation."

General Johnson

Senator (God-bless-you-Walter — let's - always - be - friends) George of Georgia got his in the fifth rib, from the Captain of the Hosts before all the people, too, because he hadn't always voted for or didn't "really in his heart" believe in the Captain's objectives.

Senator George voted for all Mr. Wallace or Mr. Hopkins ever requested—for NRA, TVA, SEC and the Wagner Act. The President says he is a "gentleman and a scholar." Yet the suggestion is that he didn't "really in his heart" believe.

What outward evidence supports this searching of human hearts? Only that Senator George didn't vote for court-packing and Federal Reorganization by Presidential fiat, or the Wages-and-Hours Bill.

The build-up for the Southern purge is that the South must be rescued and that this requires Senators whose constituents are "directly concerned with Southern economics and Southern social needs. Senators and Congressmen who are not wholeheartedly in sympathy with those needs" are to be purged.

"Old friend" Walter George seems not to have constituents concerned with, and he himself is not in sympathy with, "Southern needs."

IN THE TRAGIC ERA of Reconstruction, a law was passed intended to impose Negro supremacy on the South. When that black period ended, it fell into disuse until it was revived by this Administration in the Harlem County mistrial.

The anti-lynching bill was an attempt to democratize the Northern Negro vote. Mr. Hopkins' belated sudden election-year concern to scale down wage differentials and increase Southern WPA handouts and other less conspicuous moves look forward to Southern Negro Democratic majorities.

It is a difficult and delicate subject—but maybe the Senator is a better Georgian and Southerner than his distinguished critic.

LISTEN, WORLD!

By ELSIE ROBINSON

THE AFFIRMATIVE is the general cheer, backed by many a Sourpuss Sage. But here comes 17-year-old EDWARD GEARY of SALEM, with an indignant NO! . . . and some ideas that call for a round of cheers. Says Ed:

"I'M A MEMBER OF A CORNER GANG AND I'M PROUD OF IT! Every night we gather there in plain sight of everyone. We don't gamble, play cards, drink or scheme to break laws. That place is OUR CLUB and in it we discuss and debate all the problems of the day—not just kid stuff, but political, economic and social theories.

Elsie Robinson

"We're all poor—although most of us are employed—but we all long for educations and would do anything to get them. But we're born with two strikes against us, we haven't a chance. So we have to educate ourselves and we do so in that corner gang. The corner was always the natural meeting place for boys of the poorer classes and you'd be surprised to know what good comes out of it.

"The cop on the beat enters our arguments, gives his opinion of our debates and is in every way a friend to every member of our 'corner gang'. We are not petty thieves or future gangsters. I CAN SAY WITH SOME PRIDE THAT THE MEMBERS OF OUR 'CORNER GANG' WILL ALL SOME DAY BE OF BENEFIT TO OUR COMMUNITY.

"Edward Geary, age 17
Essex Street, Salem."

($10 PRIZE WINNER)

A grand letter, lad, and it's a strange heart indeed, that won't beat with pride at the courage in it. And were I a Priest or a Pastor in Salem, today, I'D BE USING THAT VERY LETTER FOR MY NEXT SERMON . . . AND ASKING GOD'S BLESSING . . . AND MAN'S LOVING FAITH . . . FOR "THE BOYS OF THE CORNER GANG"!

NOW, from another youngster, FRANK PARNARAUSKIS of WESTVILLE, ILL. there's an equally fine plea for—of all things—TOUGHER COLLEGE COURSES!

"Dear Miss Robinson and Fellow Young Americans—

"I BELIEVE THAT THE LAX EDUCATIONAL STANDARDS OF OUR COLLEGES ARE DEMORALIZING THE STUDENTS AND UNDERMINING OUR VERY NATION.

"Our campuses are overflowing with young people, many of whom are mentally unfit to cope with stiff courses or downright lazy and indifferent, just there to play. What's the result? Courses are shaped to fit the capacity of the dull student who is pushed along to get his degree while the real thinker is neglected.

"Let us abandon this method of education. Let's send to college only those mentally efficient so that in the future our government and society shall be led by real thinkers.

"A COLLEGE DEGREE IS A GREAT THING TO HAVE BUT ONLY IF IT STANDS FOR ACTUAL THOUGHT AND WORK.

"Frank Parnarauskis, age 18
"Clark Street, Westville, Ill."

($10 PRIZE WINNER)

AND NOW little BETTY MARGARET CRUM of LANSING, MICH., with the last word—but a mighty lively one:

"SOME DAY," says Betty, "WE'RE GOING TO HAVE A WOMAN PRESIDENT. Our progress has been slow but we'll get there yet. Look at the record the American Woman made in the last great war when her wage-earner went to the front.

"Some day another crisis may come, and women will be waiting to take the place, not of an army, but of a president. Then a new name plate may grace the White House door. MADAM PRESIDENT, WALK IN!

"Betty Margaret Crum, age 16
"Kohler Court, Lansing, Mich."

The Marry-Go-Round

By HELEN ROWLAND

HOW LONG, oh thou Simple One, wilt thou consider it chic to marry for a CHANGE; and the lawyers delight in their fees, and the Gossips in their "I-told-you-sos"?

HOW LONG wilt thou envy the Screen Beauty and the Dollar Princesses, who collect weddings, as they collect jewels and souvenirs and Persian cats?

A MAN'S TASTE in women is of an infinite variety; and though he may wed seven times, he doth not make the SAME mistake twice. But a woman runneth true to type; and she that wedded a second time, repeateth oft-times her own history.

VERILY, verily, bachelors and lovers may differ as butterflies; but all husbands are as alike as the olives in a bottle. And, if thou wilt but close thine eyes thou canst not perceive from his words, nor from the ardor of his greeting, whether it be thy first or thy second husband that kisseth thee.

ONE MAN'S chin is as rough as another's, and one man's alibis are as smooth as another's. One man's promises are as brittle as another's, and one man's excuses are as old as another's.

Three Costume Parties Feature Week on North Shore

By BETTI ALDEN

AFTER A SUMMER of wateing the fashion pages for the latest in summery beach, sports and evening wear, North Shore socialites will rely upon thir own ingenuity to create costumes for three parties this wee . . .

It will be every man for himself at the party following the water sports carnival Friday at the Manchester Yacht Club . . . for the invitations mention that guests should come in costumes, but does not stipulate just what the costumes should be . . .

Benjamin Beale, one of our youngest Yacht Club commodores, heads the committee planning this party . . . Assisting him are Mrs. William S. Febige, who is planning the supper and Otis Weld Richardson, who is always to the fore in Manchester social doings . . . Mr and Mrs. Harry Pratt McKean and Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. L. Sturgis will be among the many dinner hosts before the dance . . .

The water sports in the afternoon will offer youngsters along the Shore a wonderful opportunity to show their prowess at swimming races, diving, shinnying up a greased pole extended over the water, rowing and tub races . . .

The first party of the week is easy . . . the girls will just have to dress their prettiest dirndls for the Viennese waltzing party at the Casino tomorrow evening . . . but the men will have a little more perplexing problem . . . "Lederhosen" with crossed leather suspenders and little short pants which leave the knees bare are appropriate for the party, but, though peasant costumes of short pants and bare knees may not look out of place in the land of yodelling and Alps, they would make the average American male feel quite conspicuous and self conscious . . . So we imagine masculine waltzers will compromise, as they did at last year's party by wearing beer jackets a la Heidelberg, with their regular tuxedo trousers . . .

The third costume party of the week will require more individuality and quite a bit of thumbing through the advertising pages of newspapers and magazines . . . for everyone is to be costumed to represent an advertisement . . . This is the Saturday evening dance at the Essex County Club, which is being arranged by Anne Burnett, with a group of North Shore friends assisting her . . .

Breezes From Various Resorts

The Myopia polo team furnished a pleasant Sunday afternoon interlude for socialites along the North Shore yesterday, when they played the Army team and won by a close margin . . . Practically every polo fan on the Shore was on hand to root for the Myopians . . . filling the stands and every inch of parking space . . . Prominent among the spectators were Mrs. Forrester A. Clark, wife of polo star "Tim," crack player of the Myopia team . . . The Albert C. Burrage family was also out en masse as were members of the Francis P. Sears family, the Charles Sumner Birds and hundreds more . . .

Mr. and Mrs. Nathan D. Bill of Brookline, prominent members of Boston's artistic circles, were week-end guests of Dr Edmund DeRoy Dow at Watch Hill, R. I. . . . Others signing Dr Dow's guest book were Mrs. Herbert E. Gale of Swampscott and Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Dow of Palm Beach . . .

Pauline Palmer, daughter of the Potter Palmers of Chicago, has arrived at Bar Harbor to enjoy the younger set's festivities for the remainder of the season . . . Paulina, whose brother married the former Rose Saltonstall Movius, is one of Chicago's outstanding beauties . . . She has consistently avoided publicity since making her debut in 1936 . . . and successfully dodged a battery of photographers who waited outside her Boston coming out party, which was a lavish affair on the eve of a Harvard-Yale football game . . .

Off for Bermuda

TRADING the cool, fresh breezes of Marblehead for the more balmy semi-tropic atmosphere of Bermuda, Lilian Fernald has sailed to spend a month or so on that famous little island. She was photographed watching the fleet of yachts cross the starting line at Marblehead.

Show 30,000 Print Types

The first printing press in America was unloaded from a sailing ship in Boston Harbor 300 years ago, and Stephen Daye set up his print shop.

The anniversary of this event is being celebrated by the 500 members of the International Association of Printing House Craftsmen opening their 19th annual convention here. The program will continue through Wednesday.

More than 30,000 examples of printing are on display from all parts of the country, Canada and Hawaii. Elmer S. Lipsett of Boston heads the committee which will select the best entries.

Tablet Honors Country Doctor

BROOKFIELD, Vt., Aug. 15—A bronze tablet set in a 5000-pound granite boulder today bore tribute to a country doctor who for 41 years cared for this town's sick, brought their babies into the world and comforted the dying

"Elmer E. Ellis M.D.—Our Doctor from 1896 to 1937," was the simple inscription it bore The tablet was unveiled at ceremonies in which Madeline Ellis, the physician's daughter, did the unveiling.

Blind Girl Explains British Ban on Dog

NEW YORK, Aug 15 (INS) - Hazel Hurst, blind lecturer, explained today that her own misunderstanding of British laws forced her to return without visiting England with her "seeing eye" dog, Bebe.

"Every consideration was shown me," Miss Hurst said on her arrival, "but I had taken too much for granted."

Miss Hurst found that English law barred all dogs unless they were first placed in quarantine for six months.

Newton Man Takes Bride In New Jersey

Members of the younger set in the Newtons will be interested to hear of the marriage today of Anson Bidwell Albree, son of Mrs. Ralph Albree of West Newton, to Helen Vaughan Baker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Godfrey Vaughan Baker of Newfield, N. J.

The ceremony is being performed this afternoon in First Methodist Episcopal Church, Vineland, N. J., by the Rev. Mr. Albert L. Baner. A reception follows at Hickory Lodge, home of the bride's parents. Marjorie Baker is her sister's maid of honor and James Wood Albree of West Newton the best man

Following a wedding trip Mr. Albree and his bride will make their home in the Newtons or Wellesley.

Berkshire Ceremony

Society in the Berkshire colony attended the wedding and reception on Saturday when Ellella J. Middleton of Green River Farm, South Williamstown became the bride of Edward Everett Hawks, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs E. E. Hawks of North Andover

Both the bride and bridegroom are members of distinguished families, the former being a descendant of Arthur Middleton, a signer of the Declaration of Independence, and of Henry Middleton, one time U. S. Minister to Russia, and Governor of South Carolina. The bridegroom's ancestors, John Hawks, commanded Fort Massachusetts when it was attacked by the French and Indians in 1746

Following a honeymoon the couple will live in North Adams.

Buffet Suppers Should Be Substantial

FROM MARTHA LEE'S MONDAY BROADCAST OVER WMEX—11:30 A. M.

The buffet supper has become a popular form of entertaining popular with the hostess because it relieves her mind of serving meal time and popular with guests because of its delightful informality.

There are only a few limitations so far as the choice of food is concerned. Here are some of the most important ones.

Foods should be easily served and easily handled since guest serves himself. Creamed dishes, if these are included, should be served in individual ramekins or patty shells. As in all other types of meals, it is advisable to have at least one hot dish and this may be a creamed meat, a meat and vegetable combination, or a hot vegetable with a cold meat platter.

BUFFET SUPPER MENUS

Cold Meat Platter
(Consisting of sliced ham, jellied veal loaf, liver sausage and so on.)
Au Gratin Potatoes Tomato Aspic Salad
Fresh Peach Shortcake with Whipped Cream
Coffee

* * *

Creamed Veal with Mushrooms Served in Toasted Bread Baskets
Parsleyed New Potatoes
Fresh Vegetable Salad
Pineapple Upside-down Cake
Coffee or Iced Tea

PARSLIED POTATOES

Wash and peel potatoes and cook in boiling, salted water until tender. Drain. Roll in melted butter and sprinkle with chopped parsley.

TOASTED BREAD BASKET

Cut the side and top crusts from a loaf of unsliced bread and hollow out the inside, leaving a thick shell.

Brush the outside of the loaf with melted butter and toast in a hot oven until brown. Fill with a mixture of your choice.

BREAD WHITE SAUCE

An excellent white sauce of good appearance and flavor may be made from the soft crumbs removed from the inside of the toast or bread bowl.

YOU CAN BE BEAUTIFUL

Yeast in Beauty Cream Clears Up Blemishes

By ARLINE GOULD

WHEN THE TIME comes that subterfuge and camouflage even of the cleverest cosmetic kind, do not blind the world to the fact that your skin is frankly "pimply," let the live yeast in a beauty cream with many, many faithful followers do its level best to clear up the matter.

It has amazing powers to velvet the skin and erase lines, but that what dimmed by the new glory it brings to marred complexions.

Many a skin that has been reddened and blotched, or worse still has sprung blemishes of the "head" type has known within three days the soothing, drawing and healing powers of this yeast-impregnated cream.

In these days of much evening decolletage, strapless frocks and revealing Empire lines the back which has a tendency to break out is a beauty deficit in the catastrophe class. You can make a blemished back into something really beautiful to behold in a few short treatments with this beauty cream.

Surprisingly, this new process live yeast cream is not in the high price brackets. A good, big jar is a dollar—and small enough an investment that can change the course of a gal's (or boy's) life!

To learn the name of this deep-cleaning yeast beauty cream, phone Arline Gould, LIBerty 4000, weekdays until five, or write her at the Boston Evening American, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Talk May Only Be Jealousy

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

There is good stuff in the person who stands up for a friend he respects, even in the face of talk—which at the moment might be lies.

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

I'm a young girl just out of high school and I care a good deal for a certain boy who seems to like me. But my friends say he's not the right sort of person for me to go with. Though I don't see why they should, I've been treated fine by him.

MARKETS BOSTON AMERICAN COMMENT

Banks Extend Credit Period

By MERRYLE STANLEY RUKEYSER
International News Service Economic Commentator

NEW YORK, Aug. 15—Suffering from a dearth of loans, bankers throughout the country have been showing a tendency to lengthen the period for which credit has been granted.

Numerous bank officials declare that the pushing back of maturities rather than deterioration in quality of loans has been the chief adjustment which banks have made to the new uniform rules for bank examinations.

Taking for banks in the nation's greatest, Fred W. Thomas, senior officer of the First National Bank of Omaha, reveals:

"Banks in this locality, as the result of new regulations, have perhaps liberalized in the handling of loans to a certain extent, particularly as to the matter of time.

"However, the essential qualities of what constitutes a good loan are still recommended and maintained. The more liberal attitude is largely a matter of the terms of payment rather than reducing standards as to the quality of the credit.

SENTIMENT BETTER

"There has been only very nominal increase in the demands of small business enterprises for long term capital loans and those in the most part have been handled by the local agency of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

"There has been a rather noticeable change in sentiment and in the demand for credit since Decoration Day. This can probably be accounted for by the attitude of popular financial writers in the daily press, practically all of whom predict a business upturn this fall.

SEE MORE BUSINESS

"Our clients are generally of the opinion that business will be moderately better this fall, although there is still caution exercised in commitments for the purchase of merchandise for future requirements. However, the general outlook seems to be definitely for an improved business situation this fall.

"It looks as if the mid-continent territory is coming back into its own after several years of drought and generally unsatisfactory conditions."

Warning against using the new rules to expand frozen bank assets, the head of an important banking institution in Portland, Ore., writes me:

"It is my personal feeling that the more conservative type of bank executive will not be influenced by changes in the rules relating to bank examinations and the appraisal of bond portfolios.

"Banks of the sounder class have not heretofore hesitated to accept notes with distant maturities, providing the bases for such loans were adequate, and providing, of course, that the liquidating program of such borrowers was satisfactory.

"In my opinion there will be no departure from this procedure in the future, with the result that individuals entitled to loans will be accommodated. Meritorious enterprises will likewise be financed according to their needs."

Good News

DENVER, Aug. 15 (INS)—Business is so good for the Gates Rubber Co., here that they will construct a $250,000 warehouse at their South Denver plant, it was announced today by C. C. Gates, president.

"Business has been steadily increasing," Gates said.

ALBANY, Aug. 15 (INS)—Contrary to the usual seasonal lull in June, employment in New York State factories increased about 1 per cent in the month and payrolls rose about 2 per cent, according to Industrial Commissioner Frieda S. Miller.

NEW YORK, Aug. 15 (INS)—Home Owners Loan Corp. plans to retire $49,523,100 of 2 per cent bonds maturing August 15. This will bring to $403,816,675 the home owners loan bonds which have been retired and cancelled.

CLEVELAND, Aug. 15 (AP)—The National Machine Tool Builders Association reported today its index of orders advanced from June's 70.2 to 89.6 in July.

NEW YORK, Aug. 15 (INS)—Shortages of both new and used cars are likely to develop before 1939 models are available, according to member dealer reports to the National Automobile Dealers Association. The dealers predicted better sales during the final quarter of the year.

NEW YORK, Aug. 15 (AP)—Consumption of crude rubber by manufacturers in the United States during July was estimated at 33,209 long tons, compared with 30,629 in June, the Rubber Manufacturers Association reported today.

NEW YORK, Aug. 15—Electrical equipment purchases are trending upward, with orders held in abeyance now going on the active list, according to reports to Electrical World. New construction on the Pacific Coast is aiding business. Appliance sales are active in New England.

2514 Dwellings Built in State

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15 (AP)—[illegible] 2514 dwelling units were constructed in urban areas of Massachusetts during the first half of 1938, according to estimates of the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

This figure compares with a total of 2088 dwelling units for the same period during the first half of 1937.

Ayres Visions Improvement in Business

CLEVELAND, Aug. 15 (AP)—"It seems probable," Colonel Leonard P. Ayres said today, "that the bottom of this renewed depression was reached in June."

Writing in the Cleveland Trust Company's monthly business bulletin, the Cleveland economist declared:

"The present improvement in business is unmistakable, but it has not yet lasted long enough to let us know whether or not it is producing the developments that would insure a durable recovery.

"One important fundamental element in its favor is that we are probably going to have this year one of the largest agricultural harvests in our history. The prices will be lower than last year, but the prospective abundant harvests constitute a most favorable factor in the economic outlook.

"The most threatening factor is the danger of another great war in the Orient."

On the gloomy side, Colonel Ayres said:

"All our important business recoveries from depressions have been sustained by increased expenditures by business enterprises for enlarged plants, improved equipment, and the financing of new undertakings. So far in this upturn few signs of such increases have appeared."

Steel Outlook On Upgrade

CLEVELAND, Aug. 15 (AP)—Conditions in the steel industry continue to show slow improvement, the sharp decline of recent months having been checked, the magazine Steel said today.

Many observers have set Labor Day as the starting point of the substantial improvement looked for ward to for months. General conditions point that way and production of 1939 model automobiles is certain to bolster September tonnage.

August bookings have been at a better rate than in July, and that in turn exceeded the June rate.

Clothing Traps Theft Suspect

A vanity for tailor-made clothes, $5 shirts and $15 shoes is alleged to have trapped Bertram E. Stewart, 24, an unemployed chef held on a charge of theft in wealthy suburban homes near Boston.

Arrested in Belmont police said they found in Stewart's possession a child's bank, several watches and jewelry which had been stolen from the home of James Sprague, Danvers state senator.

An alarm had been broadcast giving a description of clothing worn by Stewart. On his person, said Sawyer, the police said, was a receipt for a suit of clothes which he was alleged to have purchased with a check for $50 signed with the name of Sprague.

Star in Southern Epic

JOAN BENNETT and Robert Cummings don the garb of the early southwest for their roles in "The Texans" which opens at the Paramount and Fenway on Thursday.

'The Texans' on Twin Bill

"The Texans," Paramount's exciting tale of the Reconstruction period, featuring Randolph Scott, Joan Bennett, May Robson and Walter Brennan, will be the top feature of the Paramount and Fenway Theaters new bill starting Thursday. Sharing program honors will be "Penrod's Double Trouble," a brand new adventure in the lives of Booth Tarkington's typical American boys, co-starring the Booth Twins.

A romance between a fiery belle of the Old South and a handsome young soldier forms the plot of "The Texans." Against the thrilling background of the mad days when a victorious North tried to tame a conquered South after the Civil War was over, "The Texans" reveals the story of a proud frontier people who refused to be beaten down and battled fearlessly for their rights as Americans until their conquerors recognized them as equals and allowed them to live their own lives.

Joan Bennett is seen as a tempestuous southern beauty who starts a one-woman rebellion against the corrupt politicians who are feeding the South and filling their own pockets during the tumultuous days of the reconstruction.

"Penrod's Double Trouble" presents the March Twins in the most exciting series of adventures in the popular Penrod stories. Before the story runs its course the boys with their junior G-Man organization become involved in a sensational kidnaping.

New Play Will Open at Chatham Wednesday

A new play, "Cowboys and Indians" by Gerald Savory, came to the Monomoy Theater at Chatham on Wednesday. That was this spring in the Little Theatre on 44th street. "Cowboys and Indians" was also seen in London.

Gerald Savory, author of the play, is associated for the past with the directors' system and has been connected with the Grand Theater for five years and has worked for new papers and news reels. He is the author of many short stories and also writes literary and art criticisms for the Nation, and other magazines.

The leading part in "Cowboys and Indians" is that of Hiram Vash, the man to whom whose strain of wild Indian blood comes to the surface when a beautiful Russian woman wakes all

Lines to an Amateur About to Turn Pro

EVER SINCE OUR NATIONAL JOB MARKET slumped away from U. S. youth our amateur athletes, both collegiate and otherwise, have been forced to scale down their notions of suitable employment for socially correct persons and the old prejudices against professional sport have greatly diminished. So, time and opportunities being what they are today, it should evoke no scandalized "Oh's" or "Ah's" when I tell you on sound though, of course, not infallible authority that Donald Budge, the world's premier male tennis player, is ready to quit the game for its own sake and such rewards as only he, his lawyer and his pastor would know anything about, and go on a tennis Chautauqua next winter for a cut of the proceeds.

AUSTEN LAKE

If Budge feels that a sense of respectability requires him to find a precedent for turning pro, he need only look down the long line of illustrious amateurs who have preceded him. Bobby Jones, the golf wizard; Sonja Henie, the Olympic skating cutie; Ellsworth Vines, Fred Perry, Bill Tilden, Lawson Little, "Whizzer" White, to mention a few.

[illegible] story of sport has proved many times that amateurism is only a stepladder to professional opportunity. The little worries of ambition and avarice begin to bore in the souls of a person at the exact instant when he, or she, begins to get his, or her name and picture next to pure reading matter on the sport pages. The yearning, which is recognizable as a human yearning [illegible] in each athlete's inner being to press on to broader and more [illegible] fields.

Budge May Feel Better

IT IS TRUE, OF COURSE, THAT some of our celebrated amateurs stay technically pure like the mile racer who, though quite impecunious during his college years, last March paid a tax on a $34,000 income. Obviously he could not afford to turn professional. Others sweat their amateurism by selling rich benefactors large chunks of insurance or real estate. But the bulk prefer the franker avowal of open and honest professionalism.

So it may be that Budge, as Ellsworth Vines put it when he was induced by Bill Tilden, will feel much relieved [illegible] that fatal step, because then he can look hotel clerks [illegible] the course of his travels without feeling on a footing [illegible] for his supper. For, being an independent young man with a troublesome streak of honesty in his character, he may feel rebellious against the doubtful social and industrial status which he is required to accept while holding his amateur [illegible]

The U. S. L. T. A., which is a kind of company union in the amateur tennis industry, made a gesture last year toward debousing the sport of its less scrupulent and more indigent moochers, who hobo between the big tournament centers, living on the cuff ad clattering up the entry lists. Yet the tennis promoters at Wimbledon and Forrest Hills still collect many thousands on the strength of the vocational amateurs ed could not exist if the young men and young women did not devote themselves almost entirely to tennis most of the year and for most of the years of their youth. It was not so long ago that Budge was one of the indistinguished herd.

Little Called It a Sacrifice

ONE RECALLS WHEN LAWSON LITTLE, the former golf amateur champion who turned into a touring tutor for a tool manufacturing firm, passed over the bourne, so to speak, he explained that he had been actuated by a spirit of self-sacrifice. He wished to bring America, where there is only one golfer in every 100 citizens up to a parity with England, where there is one to each 37. So he accepted a large salary to become a golf missionary and spread the game's gospel among the the heathen, and now he gives illustrated sermons to schools, colleges and clubs and earns his salary by advising such converts as he makes on the brand of instruments that best fit their style of play. It is perfectly conceivable, of course, that he does not recommend any hand-forged mallets made by firms rival to the one for which he works.

In turning professional Budge will have no such mission as Littles Tuxedo does not emanate the old into delusions that their grasp on the game's knack is just around the corner. For golf's most fascinating trait is the bland pretense that suckers can play it, something not true of any other game of my acquaintance. Indeed, if a man cannot paddle more than his length or gets nauseated when he looks down from a [illegible] he quickly recognizes that he is not cut out for sprint swimming or fancy diving and limits himself to strutting his figure on the beach. [illegible] cannot sit on a horse he denies himself polo and steeplechasing. All other sports excepting golf recognize their physical defici[illegible]

Budge Will Have No Delusions

SO BUDGE WILL NOT BE PESTERED by any delusions on his real reason for taking the professional shilling next winter. Like "Whizzer" White, the 1937 All America halfback who has just signed [illegible]

Stars Advance In Essex Tennis

Mrs. VanRyn Turns Back Anne Page

By WALTER KILEY

MANCHESTER-BY-THE-SEA Aug. 15—All was peace and tranquility as the 14th annual Essex County Club invitation tennis championships got under way with ideal weather prevailing today.

Upsets were conspicuous by their absence, the many seeded stars, home bred and foreign, advanced into the second round in straight set victories.

Mrs. John Van Ryn, Austin, Texas, fourth seeded, paced the brilliant field of feminine stars, toppling a 6–4, 6–4 victory over Miss Anne Page of Philadelphia.

LOVELY KAY WINS

Lovely Kay Stammers, England's gift to tennis, made short work of Marcelle Arguimbeau of Stamford, [illegible] 6–0, 6–2.

Blond Helen Pedersen of Stanford, [illegible] seeded sixth, raced through the even more blond Jane Stanton of Los Angeles, 6–0, 6–1.

Mrs. Carolyn Babcock Stark of San Francisco's veteran of Wightman Cup play, showed her old time skill as she dropped but one game in straight set, 6–1, 6–0, victory over Miss Fumio Nakano Japan.

ELEANOR SEARS TRIUMPHS

[illegible] of the far traveling Apawamis women's quartet paraded through their first round matches, Mrs. Grace Chase eliminating Boston's Prince Lyon, 6–1, 6–1, and Nancy Wayne playing under wraps to defeat Katherine Hazlett of Chestnut Hill, N. H., 6–2, 6–3.

Eleanora Sears, internationally known sportswoman from Boston and Beverly Farms, and undoubtedly the most elderly entry in the Essex play, turned in a 6–3, 6–3, victory over Marilyn McRae of Little Rock, Arkansas.

The complete list of seeded players were [illegible] completed for the afternoon play.

Miss Alice Marble, former National champion, America's ranking woman player and top-seeded here, came back to Essex fresh from winning over Dorothy "Dodo" Bundy in the Eastern Grass Court finals at Rye and before that at Longbranch.

TWO STRAIGHT

Mrs. Marshall Fabyan, Jr., of Cambridge, the former Sarah Palfrey, was playing Miss Mercedes Matthey of Louisiana [illegible]

Miss Bundy, second seeded, was meeting Miss Patsy Canfield of Montreal, N. J. [illegible] with [illegible] in the only unexpected [illegible] match.

England's representation into the second round was completed when Miss Margot Lumb swept through Mrs. Chatfield Whitman of Boston, 6–1, 6–2.

ESSEX COUNTY CLUB, Manchester by the Sea, Mass., Aug. 15 — summary:

15 Rookies On Bears' Squad

CHICAGO, Aug. 15 (AP)—The Bears and the Cardinals, Chicago's [illegible] in the National Professional Football League, opened their training [illegible] for the 1938 title race today, each carrying more rookies than in any previous season.

George Halas, owner-coach of the Bears who announced yesterday Sam Francis, former Nebraska fullback, had come to terms for another season's play, had little to say about the 1938 title prospects but Charley Bidwell, owner of the Cards who finished last in 1937, was more optimistic. "This year we have balance . . . a driving fullback . . . passers. This Jack Robbins from the University of Arkansas, for instance. Sammy Baugh told me Robbins was better than he was."

The Bears, who lost last year's title playoff to Baugh and the Washington Redskins, have 15 rookies in the squad of 45. Four other rookies—Gus Zarnas, Ohio State; Gary Famiglietti, Boston U.; Joseph Gray, Oregon State, and Imon Blackaby, Butler—will join the team after their part in the college all-star game here against the Washington Pros August 31.

Weary Sox Return to Fens

Hose Drops Last Five In Row

The Swarm is in Philadelphia today, jubilant after an impressive home stay, in which they won 13 of 22 games, getting at worst an even split in the six different series played with rival clubs at the Lesbave.

The Sox arrived in town this morning saddened and discouraged with virtually all hope of catching the fast-traveling and league leading Yankees evaporated.

Joe Cronin

Manager Joe Cronin's Hose came back fr a long home sojourn with the opener scheduled against the Athletics to-morrow.

They came back crippled and sick as well after dropping their last five games and with the Bees record of seven wins and 11 defeats, putting them 11½ games back of the Yanks and a poor third in the American League standings.

The Swarm leads for the pennant after taking two out of four from both the Pirates and Cincinnati Reds, three out of four from the St. Louis Cards, two out of three from the Chicago Cubs, one out of two from the Giants and three out of five from the Brooklyn Dodgers with only the loss of a single game of the six series.

The Sox arrive after losing five straight for the third time this season as windup of western junketing.

The Bees are still paying the record dividend of fifth place by a 5-to-3 game over the Dodgers and considerably heartened by the record of Lou Fette who after winning his first start of the year dropped the next eight in a row and then came back spectacularly to achieve the next eight running for a season's performance of nine wins eight defeats.

FETTE HELPS

The Yankeemen were badly crippled when Bob Grove's ailing arm went bad again in a game with the Athletics at Shibe Park probably costing the Sox their greatest defensive asset for the balance of the year. Then came the injury to Mel Higgins, third baseman, which laid him up for two weeks.

Their cause was further damaged when Jimmy Foxx suffered a badly sprained ankle, and while he refused to rest it on doctor's instructions suffered both set back and in the finale's fall-off being followed by his teammates who immediately joined him in a batting slump.

With only the wreck of a pitching staff remaining the Sox had good reason today for their drooping spirits and only the best of speed for one can hold them together in any semblance of that powerful wrecking crew whose lethal bats were causing consternation throughout the league ranks.

Defender

ORIENTAL will defend the Quincy Challenge Cup in the Manchester I class over the Savin Hill Yacht Club's course August 16, 17 and 18. Hosea D. White, the owner, will be at the helm.

Savin Hill Y. C. Scene of Cup Races

The Savin Hill Yacht Club has been picked as the scene of the Quincy Challenge Cup series which gets under way Aug 16, 17 and 18.

The starting gun will find Hosea D. White's Manchester I Class Champion Oriental again in the defender berth in a series which has all the promises of being hotly contested.

It will be a pleasing sight to local yachtsmen to again see the veteran Alman E. Whittemore with his boat Peggy in the thick of the fight.

A newcomer to Boston Bay I Class racing, the season's Walter Backa 'Packet' which has led the pack to the carbon, in a number of the races.

MR. BOSTON

Rest for Dog Track Bettors | Did You Wager On Mr. Canron?

By JACK CONWAY

NO MORE DOG racing in Massachusetts until Wonderland Park opens its fall meeting in October . . . The splendid weather the latter part of last week enabled the Old Harbor Kennel Club to close its meeting in a blaze of glory . . . With large crowds and soaring mutuel handles . . . General Manager Sheldon H. Fairbanks was pleased with the high calibre of the racing as well as the financial success of the meeting.

Mr. Boston

Wonderland Park continues to make more money on each invested dollar than any racing plant in the world . . . Judge James E. Dooley of Narragansett Park is also smiling today as he has ironed out most of his difficulties at the Pawtucket, R. I., track, and was able to offer 22,000 fans top racing on Saturday.

I hope you had Mr. Canron to win in the King Philip Handicap . . . I went down with Trouper who was beaten out for first money by a nose . . . I couldn't resist the temptation of playing the field with War Magic, Trouper and Misrule in it . . . I thought Misrule would prove the best of the field horses . . . He finished fourth in a driving finish.

I closed my eyes and stabbed Paddy who returned $24 in the second race . . . I also had Boat's Crew running for me in this race as the old insurance . . . He finished third . . . Wonder what happened to Distract whom I thought was a cinch to win the first race . . . I was also holding losing tickets on Heather Time when this 3-to-5 shot ran out of the money . . . And to think I have a rule against playing odds on favorites . . . Looks as if we are all carefree suckers when the odds begin to flash on a "tote" board.

Dighton and West Springfield closed on Saturday . . . The ending of the Dighton dog meeting will help the handle at Narragansett Park . . . Dighton played to large crowds, but the handle was off as a result of the large number of mill workers who have been unemployed . . . The management of the Dighton track did its part to assist correct the unemployment situation by giving jobs to almost 500 local people on a stagger system . . . Frank Anderson and Jim Eagan feel that their policy will be reflected at the fall election when the voters will pass upon horse and dog racing.

'Ambers' Chance for Fame

AS WORLD'S lightweight champion, Lou Ambers has not caused anybody to go daffy cheering about him . . . He has been a hit-and-run boxer with the accent on the run . . . If Ambers can forget about running, and punch out a victory over Henry Armstrong at the New York Garden on Wednesday night he can become a national boxing sensation.

This bout is supposed to be a cinch for Armstrong who holds the world's featherweight and welterweight championships . . . This is why there is such scant public interest in the match . . . People refuse to pay top money to watch what they consider a sure thing . . . The Louis-Schmeling bout proved to be a sure thing as Der Max didn't toss a single effective punch, but riot of punching . . . Perhaps the Armstrong-Ambers go, rated as a soft touch for the conqueror of Barney Ross, will furnish a few surprises.

Ambers is young, has speed and, while not a terrific hitter, is able to land a cutting wallop . . . He can give Armstrong an interesting evening if he decides to stand up and do a little two-fisted fighting.

Four Opponents for Joe Louis

NOW THAT Joe Louis has signed to defend his title four times for Mike Jacobs next year, there is considerable speculation as to who will be pitted against the "Brown Bomber."

Heading the list of contenders is the name of Max Baer . . . Bob Pastor, Gunnar Barlund and Tony Galento are the other carefree souls who will be permitted to stand up before Louis' terrific fist fire.

The lack of interest in the Armstrong-Ambers bout caused Mike Jacobs to decide there isn't any great public desire to see a Louis-Baer clash in September . . . This is why this match has been voted back to next year.

Galento Natural for Buildup

JOE JACOBS says it hasn't been difficult for him to build up Tony Galento into a box office attraction . . . Galento is a natural who has a habit of doing the things people like and which get his name into the newspapers . . . The public is fed up on soft, luxury living, literary fighters and is anxious to see Tavern Tony level his opponents with his terrific punches.

Thomson After New Golf Marks

To Show Power Off Tees at Belmont

By BILL GRIMES

In all branches of sport, power is the magnet that attracts the fans.

The fans attend baseball games to watch the home run hitters, tennis players with cannon ball serves are the outstanding favorites and one of the greatest thrills in football is a punt from the end zone that sails majestically deep into the opponents' territory.

The same rule applies to golf. And, for that reason, Jimmy Thomson, who will team up with Lawson Little against Horton Smith and Harry Cooper at the Belmont Country Club one week from next Sunday afternoon, in an exhibition match for the Boston Evening American-Sunday Advertiser Christmas Basket Fund, has no peer as a links attraction.

Jimmy Thomson is the longest hitter in golf. He is the recognized champion of North America, having won that title in actual competition from the best the game could produce, including Sam Snead.

EXHIBITION DRIVING

Shortly after Ky Laffoon won the Cleveland open yesterday, I was talking to Horton Smith over long distance telephone and informed him that the New England fans were anxious to see Jimmy tie into some real tee shots at Belmont one week from next Sunday afternoon.

"Fine, that's what we're traveling around the country 12 months in the year for," declared Horton. "And, if the New England golf public went to see Jimmy hit for distance, I'll tell you that that can easily be arranged.

"I'll tell you what we'll do, and I feel certain that this plan will meet with the approval of the gallery. We'll start at the opening hole, for Jimmy will be all warmed up after the demonstration of shot-making. Naturally, the entire gallery will be on that tee and stretched up both sides of the fairway, well over the hill. So we'll have Jimmy crash one off that tee. Then, let the gallery, I mean those who are more interested in long hitting that in other shots, cross to the second hole, which Jimmy has agreed to try to drive the green.

"While we are playing the short third hole, the gallery will have time to reach points of vantage along the fourth fairway, which is ideal for a long drive.

"In the event that the wind is out of the southwest quarter, Jimmy will go for a long one off the fifth tee. The best place for the gallery at this hole is on the hill beyond the green, from where the entire hole is visible.

"From the fifth, the gallery can move over behind the seventh green and we'll see if Jimmy can drive the cross road at the foot of the hill as he did on two occasions last year.

"Due to the narrow eighth, tenth and eleventh fairways, it would be very dangerous for any golfer to go for distance, lest the shot be enough off line to hit someone in the gallery. But, Jimmy will open up at the thirteenth and fourteenth holes and when we get around to the pond hole, the seventh, you'll see how long the Scot really is.

NOW KNOWS COURSE

"As you must remember, he was only a few yards from that hazard two years ago, when he didn't know the hole or even the length of the carry over the pond.

"Then, I'll have Jimmy try to beat the drive, which won him some extra money last year during the Belmont International Match Play championship. He carried the road which is 300 yards from the tee, and was credited with a 314-yard shot.

"On the holes where Jimmy will go for distance, we will hold up the match until the gallery is set. Under no circumstance can we risk injuring anyone."

Park League Clash Tonight

The semifinal series of the Boston Park League Playoffs will continue tonight at Fallon Field, Roslindale with the Holy Name A. A. entertaining the fast travelling Mass Knitting Club of Jamaica Plain.

The count in games at present is in favor of the Knitters 2-1 with a third win determining the champions, who will meet the St. Augustines of South Boston for the city championships in a four out of seven series.

Although beaten in their last two starts the Holy Name Club is far from being counted out and will display the strongest nine tonight in hopes of remaining in the series. The ability of both clubs can be measured by the fact that in the five games played Mass Knitting won two and Holy Name one with two tie games being played.

Interest in the series this year has surpassed all records to date for attendance. With the teams competing never having had the the honor of winning the city championship, the final series attendance should be the best ever compiled in New England sandlot circles.

Manager DeLang and Captain Sharkey of the Holy Name nine will use their ace, Curt Fullerton.

Billie Martel, manager of the Silk Sox has Sam White, who limited the Holy Namers to two hits in his last start and Wonoski, a southpaw, who gave the church boys plenty of bother when he beat them with Fullerton on the hill.

Greyhound Races In $4000 Stakes

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Aug. 15 (AP)—Greyhound, the famed six-year-old trotter owned by Edward J. Baker of St. Charles, Ill., returns to his home state to race today.

While other Grand Circuit trotters and pacers arrived last night for the five-day meeting at the Illinois State Fair, chief attention was centered on Greyhound and his scheduled start in the $4000 added Matron Stakes today.

Cochrane Heads For Sox Berth

Joe Cronin Back to Senators Is Newest Theory

NEW YORK, Aug. 15 (AP)—A lot of baseball men in the know tell you Mickey Cochrane will be managing the Red Sox and Joe Cronin will be back in Washington in a year or two . . . And don't be surprised if Billy Rogell, who was palsy-walsy with Iron Mike, is put on the trading block by the Tigers.

Sounds like a pipe dream, but Army is a leetle bit afraid of Wichita, the cadet football opener . . . Al Schacht may do his clowning around the college gridirons this fall . . . If his advisors can sell him on the idea . . . Al Hostak, the new middleweight champ, drew exactly one buck for his first fight—a two-round kayo . . . is the Hollywood Coast League club gonna be sold again? . . . Note to Kansas City writers: "Don't let Brusie Ogrodowski, the Blues' new catcher, kid you . . . his first name's Ambrose, not Bruce, but he doesn't like it . . .

PACKERS HOLDOUT 7

Northwestern is doing it's best to keep Norm Ferran a secret . . . he's six-foot-four and 245 pounds of nitty tackle from Ioway . . . we heard a fellow, who says he has inside info, betting important sugar that the Giants will broadcast their '39 games, with a cereal company as sponsor . . .

It's tragic, isn't it, that one of the game's greatest batteries, Grove and Cochrane, should be saying so long to the diamond the same week . . . what's this about a mass holdout of half a dozen or more of the Green Bay pro football Packers? . . . with a shorter schedule, they want the pay per game upped so they won't come out short . . .

Jack Doyle puts the odds at 2 to 1 that Hank Greenberg doesn't bust Babe Ruth's homer record . . . Ever since Seabiscuit had that close call against Ligaroti last week the 'Biscuit's backers aren't so keen about Pony's "All-America" popularity team, for which he gets an auto as prize . . . Now wouldn't it be something if the fans also picked him as one of the outfielders, where he really belongs . . . How about one of those cars if it happens, Mel?

YANKS SMART

Why those Indians, whose pitching is blowing up all over the place, didn't grab Wes Ferrell is one of the major mysteries to this corner . . . And with those doubleheaders two and three deep every week for most of the rest of the way, you can bet those Yanks the day's posies for landing him.

The crying towel is passing around the football coaches already . . . Bernie Moore moans about his Louisiana State backs, but he's only two and three deep in every spot . . . And has John Crabtree, who's supposed to make 'em forget about Sammy Baugh down that-a-way . . .

And Doc Sutherland, coming back from Scotland, is singin' the blues because his sophomores aren't so hot at Pitt . . . Charley Lucas, the Australian promoter who's been hanging around the U. S. A. for a year or more, may put on some shows around town . . . Congrats to Amos Alonzo Stagg . . . The grand old guy's 76 tomorrow . . . So long now—see you at the baseball writers shindig and clambake out Long Island way today.

Wes Ferrell With Yanks

NEW YORK, Aug. 15 (AP)—When the Washington Senators booted Wes Ferrell out of baseball with an unconditional release last week, they kicked him right upstairs to the Yankees and what looks now like a world series cut.

The Yanks, hampered by the illness of rookie Joe Vance who underwent an appendectomy Saturday night, and looking ahead to those five doubleheaders in a row against Chicago and Cleveland beginning August 23, signed the temperamental "nuthin' ball" veteran yesterday. He'll probably make his debut fri a world champions' uniform in the series with the Senators this week.

Wes' hooking up with the Yanks came as somewhat of a surprise. After his Washington release last Friday he had tried to dicker with some of the National League clubs, but after several of them had spoken their piece about "prima donna" it remained for the Yanks to pick up, for just about nothing, a pitcher who has won 13 and lost eight for the fourth place Nats this year.

Callahan Takes on Zannelli

PROVIDENCE, August 15—Andy Callahan rules a 7 to 5 favorite to whip Ralph Zannelli at the Rhode Island Auditorium here tonight.

Even the fact that Ralph "The Ripper" holds a decision over "Handy Andy" has failed to influence the boys who quote the odds.

They maintain that Callahan was far from right that evening but at present the Lawrence welterweight is back in perfect fighting shape. Zannelli, on the other hand, after a brilliant year of professional fighting lost much caste when Georgie Martin whipped him three times and now the Providence boy must fight his way back to the top.

In addition to this classy main bout, a strong preliminary card has been arranged.

Lou Brouillard, former welterweight and middleweight boxing champion of the world, will second his brother Tommy, of Worcester, in one of the eight-round semi-finals against hard-hitting Mickey Page of Silver Lake. In the other eight, clever Abe Denner of Boston will tangle with Georgie Harper of New York.

Two four-rounders will complete the card, with Jimmy Barbour of Apponaug facing off against Manny Costa of Fall River in one and Southpaw Johnny Sorenson of East Providence meeting Al Moquin of Fall River in the other.

Trained Dogs Will Highlight Show

One of the pioneer groups in the sponsoring of the highly popular obedience test classes, the North Shore Kennel Club will again give the trained dogs a prominent spot this year in the club's fifth annual show to be held Saturday, August 27, at the Myopia Hunt Club in Hamilton.

The New England dog training club will co-operate with the N. S. K. C. in the handling of the obedience test classes. A special feature of the class will be the fact that the entire performance will be held under a tent where the spectators can view the proceedings with the maximum of comfort. There will be several large cash prizes given.

Cliff Ties York For Clout Title

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 15 (AP) — Aided by a tall wind, Rudy York of the Detroit Tigers and Harlond Clift of the St. Louis Browns tied for first place in a long-distance hitting contest here yesterday when each drove the ball 470 feet. Cash prizes of $150 were awarded.

Hank Greenberg, Tiger first baseman, was third with a drive of 462 feet.

with the Pittsburgh pro football team at $15,000 before pursuing his Rhodes scholarship at Oxford, he is doing it unromantically for money.

The college attitude toward professionalism also has undergone a radical change and it seems very foolish now to recall that there ever could have been a time when any one seriously objected to participation of varsity alumni in professional football on the ground that the pro game was unworthy of them. But that was so only a few years ago, when it was thought much more desirable that a young graduate should apply his energies and education to selling bum bonds. Nowadays there are not so many bum bonds being sold and nobody seems to have any money or inclination to buy even the less bum ones. So the graduated varsity football player finds his pro football job quite an important help and nobody has the nerve any more to suggest that he lay off for the sake of his alma mater. Even the fine old idealists of the coaching profession who used to denounce the pro game as something very sinister, are poking around for any loose dollar and are not above picking up an autumn's work in business football. And that, I think you will agree, is the way it is not only with Donald Budge, but with all our amateur athletes, in such times as these.

Park Boxers' Battle Tomorrow

Boston playground leather pushers in eight classes are primed for the show to be held tomorrow evening at Joseph Lee Stadium, Back Bay, under the direction of the recreation staff of the Park Department.

Promptly at 6 p. m. the first two boys will commence skirmishing and elimination bouts will follow in the 95, 115, 125 and 155 pound classes. The second of the elimination nights will take place at Fallon Field, Roslindale, on next Monday when entrants in the 105, 135 and 165 pound classes will settle who will be in the finals.

Each section of the city will be represented by a team of nine in the final show to be held at Columbus Stadium, South Boston, on Monday night, August 30.

Embracing all the features of an oldtime ball park fistic festival, the finals will have the cream of the city's scrappers on the card, fighting under the floodlights.

Recreation Director William M. Mullen has assigned two former ring luminaries, Tommy Rawson and Tom Kirby, to the active direction of the show.

Don't Let Summer Sun Kill Your Hair

Your hair-growing structure is delicate and reacts unfavorably to over exposure of hot rays of the mid-day summer sun. Such exposure may increase your hair-fall, aggravate dandruff, and start you more definitely on the road to baldness.

Call at a Thomas office today for free advice on the care of your hair during the summer months. A Thomas expert will gladly tell you how to enjoy summer sports without injury to your hair. He will tell you when and how to expose your hair to the sun; when to wear a hat; what to do about excessive perspiration on the scalp — about salt-water bathing and shower baths. He will also explain exactly how Thomas effectively ends dandruff, stops falling hair and regrows hair on the thin and bald spots. No charge is made for consultation nor for scalp examination. You are always welcome.

JOHN AND ANNE BACK; WON'T 'EXPLOIT' NAME

GIRL SHOT IN YOUTH'S AUTO

In agony from a bullet wound in her left hand, an 18-year-old Keene, N. H., girl walked into Lynn Hospital today and asked for surgical treatment.

She said she sustained the wound when she accidentally discharged a revolver which was in a side pocket of her boy friend's auto.

Identifying herself as Arline Williams, 18, of Meadow road, Keene, she told police she was brought from Keene to Revere last night by a Revere youth.

She allegedly refused to name the youth.

According to her story, the "accident" happened last night, but she was afraid, at first, to go to a doctor or a hospital.

"I sat in the car, smoking cigarettes, until morning," she said. "Then the pain got so bad I had to do something.

"My boy friend drove me near the hospital, then let me out of the auto and I just walked in."

Police said the girl would be questioned.

DR. KERR, CORNELL, DIES

ITHACA, N. Y., Aug. 15 (AP)—Dr. Abram T. Kerr, 65, widely known anatomist and secretary of the Cornell College of Medicine, died here today.

Kiss of Welcome—John Roosevelt was warmly greeted by Mrs. F. Haven Clark of Nahant as he arrived home from honeymoon tour with his bride, on left, the former Anne Lindsay Clark, her daughter. Sally, back to camera, another daughter and bride-to-be, was next in line to offer an osculatory greeting to John. (Sally and her bridegroom-to-be on Page 3.)

J. P. Morgan Host To King George

Queen Elizabeth, who is staying with her father at Strathmore, was to join the King later. Morgan for years has been a neighbor of the Earl of Strathmore, the Queen's father.

Roosevelt's Son Shuns Politics

His job and his future were very much on John Roosevelt's mind today as he and his bride, the former Anne Lindsay Clark of Nahant, returned from their Bermuda honeymoon.

Sun-tanned and in high spirits after their six weeks' idyll in the West Indies, John and Anne received newspaper reporters and cameramen aboard the Canadian National liner Lady Drake, before the vessel docked.

John, as usual, did the talking.

CAN'T LIVE ON PAY

He took pains, at once, to make several things clear. Among them were these:

He's determined not to "exploit" his family name or allow it to be exploited in connection with his business career.

He got the job with William Filene's Sons Company "by going in and asking for it, like anybody else."

He "ducked" the advertising business because he thought "being a Roosevelt" would complicate that.

He doesn't expect to be able to live "quite" within his earned income for a while.

ECHOES POLITICS

But he and Anne have agreed to live simply and economically in a "small apartment somewhere off Beacon street" in Brookline."

John considers Greater Boston his home. He's going to remain
